

REMUS SPELLS CALLED ANGER NOT INSANITY

State Uses Defense Witness in Effort to Prove Rages Were Frequent While in Prison.

ANOTHER OUTBURST STAGED BY REMUS

Prisoner Causes New Scene in Court by Assailing Assistant to Prosecutor Taft.

Cincinnati, December 1.—(AP)—The prosecution in George Remus' trial today set about proving that the outbursts of the defendant, which nearly a score of witnesses had testified indicated insanity, were nothing more than fits of anger common to him long before he had heard anything concerning the alleged misconduct of the wife he killed.

Willie H. Haas, Savannah, Ga., a former bootlegger who served a sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary at the same time Remus was there for violating the prohibition law, was in the witness box as a defense witness.

Scenes at Pen.

"Didn't Remus get very mad when the prisoners in the Atlanta penitentiary would cry out: 'Who are the cheaters' and answer themselves with: 'Remus, the rat,'" asked Carl E. Basler, assistant prosecutor on cross-examination.

The defense objected strenuously, Charles H. Elston, counsel with Remus, asserting that the only purpose of such an interrogation could be to prejudice the jury or cause ill feeling towards Remus.

"We want simply to show these spells were mad spells, that they were simply fits of anger and not insanity at all," Basler told Judge Chester R. Shook. "We want to show that Remus had them long before anything came up about Mrs. Remus."

Attacks Basler.

Remus, who had sat quietly all day, bounded to his feet, with an attack upon Basler.

"There was not a prisoner down there wide enough, large enough or powerful enough to insinuate a thing into the mind of a juror," he said.

2 Downtown Sites Bring $1,000,000 In Big Local Deal

Walton Building, 10-Story Structure, and Westinghouse Building Sold in Important Transactions.

SALES FEATURE PINNACLE MONTH

Much Property Transfer Involved in Purchase of Commercial Properties by Candler, Hightower.

Real estate sales involving two valuable downtown sites improved with important commercial structures, the Walton building, on the corner of Walton and Cone streets, and the Westinghouse building, corner of Marietta street and Jones avenue, were announced here Thursday, with the transfer of property valued at more than a million dollars. Coupled with the 50-year lease of the Piedmont hotel and the sale of the Wincoff hotel recently closed, Thursday's negotiations show the past four-week period as revealing one of the most active real estate markets witnessed here in many years and one of the pinnacle months in Atlanta property history.

The deal involving sale of the Walton building, 10-story office structure in the heart of the Atlanta business district, was consummated Thursday between the Walhill Realty company, of which Edwin Haas is president, as seller, and the Lullwater Manufacturing company, as purchaser. Walter Candler is president of the Lullwater firm. Acting jointly as agents in this transaction, which included real estate said to be valued at more than $800,000, were John C. Baldwin, Jr., and the Haas and Howell real estate department. Mr. Baldwin is with Adams-Cattell company.

In the second deal the Westinghouse building was purchased by H. Hightower, Sr., of Thomaston, Ga., for a consideration said to be well in excess of $500,000. Acquisition of large holdings in Atlanta real estate by these two transactions became apparent with purchase of the Westinghouse building coming within three weeks of the Wincoff hotel purchase for $1,250,000. Both properties were sold to Mr. Hightower by W. F. Wincoff, with M. C. Kiser as agent.

Footbal-Mad Throng On Way to Grid Classic

ALL ATLANTA READY FOR CROWDS

Tragedy in the classified column: "Wanted, three tickets for the game. What have you? Address—"

And even Constitution classified columns can't bring results. For what isn't, is not. And there you have it. There will be, however, a chance to see the game, even for the foolish virgins whose lamps weren't trimmed when invitations were going around. And for the foolish escorts who, postponed buying until too late.

For there will be standing room to accommodate about 1,000 fortunate. No tickets, but the S. R. O. gate will open at 6 o'clock and the first thousand in line will get in. The rest? They can wait and gnash their teeth outside.

Interurban bus lines, railroad companies, owners of automobiles and possessors of two workable feet are all starting toward Atlanta today and tomorrow morning. For this is the mecca, this the objective of every gridiron gazing eye, every football pregnant soul.

Crowds, crowds, crowds. Masses, flocks and more crowds of people are coming.

For Georgia Tech plays Georgia for the championship of the nation. That's what hinges on this game. For didn't Georgia beat Yale, champions of the east? And hasn't Georgia beaten every southern conference team it has played? And hasn't Tech beaten every S. C. team except Vandy and tied with the Commodores? Yet, sir! Give you Tech and six points? Taken. Tech'll win, sir! I'll be damned if she does. Why Georgia— And so on.

How do you get to the field? Take my advice and walk. It will be the surest and easiest way. But if you must ride in the old bus—well, Captain G. C. Fain, in charge of the special squads of traffic police for the game, instructs as follows:

Go out Marietta, Spring, West Peachtree or Peachtree to North Avenue.

RUSSIA SEES WAR IN RACE OF ARMS

Soviet Delegation Issues Memorandum Attacking "Capitalistic Powers;" Charges Hypocrisy.

BY HENRY WALKS.

(Copyright, 1927, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Geneva, December 1.—The soviet delegation today issued a memorandum attacking the "capitalistic powers," accusing them of hypocrisy and unwillingness honestly to disarm and warning against an inevitable general war unless the red plan for complete disarmament is adopted.

"The responsibility for the world war was the direct outcome of competition among capitalistic states driven to extend colonial possessions and markets for increasing production," said the Moscow statement.

"Pacifism played a lamentable part in the war. Liberal pacifism was carried away by the fatal words—this is the last war. It is a war to end war. It will result in the extermination of war makers, the abolition of armaments and establishment of international peace."

Great Cost of War.

The Russian memorandum cited the casualties suffered by the belligerent powers, the effect of the war on birth rate statistics and gave figures on the colossal sums spent by the powers.

"The frenzied piling up of armaments given lie to the belief that wars are ended," the statement continues.

"Consider the extreme apprehension felt by every government for the future, even though it may not be the intention of some governments to acquire steps to bring about war to share out the earth again in a manner suiting them better. We are reminded by the method the League of Nations follows for disarmament of the war-time pacifist who directed the public conscience by empty promises and chimerical hopes."

The memorandum cited illustrations of the growth of the armaments among the victorious powers since the Versailles treaty.

"Public opinion is forcing certain governments to advocate the renouncing of chemical and bacteriological warfare, but secretly they are experimenting in their laboratories," the memorandum states. "General Frey stated that aero-chemical bombs weighing 450 kilograms, charged with nitrite, would render ten districts of which have their roots firmly fastened in the soil of corruption."

"Greater sums of money can now be raised to carry an election in a single city than was formerly employed in a national campaign. And the vote, crooked or otherwise, of a great city frequently determines the elections in a great state. Thus, the dishonest elections in a single city may determine a national election and shape the fate of the republic."

"Government thus controlled will inevitably produce the bribe-giver and the bribe-taker, the betrayer and the thief."

Attacking Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon for his part in the Pennsylvania election, Reed asserted that Mellon put up $25,000 to the fund for Senator George Wharton Pepper and said that the secretary of the treasury, from his position in the cabinet, to give to the picture a final touch of sanctity when with impious insolence he declared the statues of the slain fund to have been as justifiable as collecting money for the church of God.

There are too many laws on the statute books, and the need of this country is "less law and more respect for law," Senator Reed asserted.

He asked for a return to the states of the powers and duties naturally devolving on them, and declared that "we should pass no law which is not generally believed in."

"Such laws, he said, backed by the common sentiment of the people could be and would be enforced."

GERMANY'S GUILT IN WAR IS DENIED

World Struggle Is Laid at Doors of Russia, France and Serbia by Senator Owen.

Milwaukee, Wis., December 1.—(AP)—Germany's guilt in the starting of the world war was vigorously denied by Robert S. Owen, former United States senator from Oklahoma, in a speech tonight.

Speaking at an observance of the sesquicentennial of General Von Steuben's arrival in America, he praised the general and lauded residents of the United States who are of German descent for their patriotism.

"We now know that the world war was deliberately planned by a very few men in control of the Russian foreign office, the French foreign office and the Serbian government, with the connivance of a few men in Great Britain," Owen said.

"We know that the people of France and Germany were alike, the victims of the folly and ambition of an unscrupulous few."

Although dispatches were exchanged between London, St. Petersburg, Paris, Berlin and Vienna which made it appear that an attempt for a peaceful settlement of the impending Austro-Serbian conflict was made, secret dispatches now prove that "this gesture was intended to deceive the people and cover up the rapid preparations then in progress to attack Germany unawares," Owen stressed.

Defense counsel contended that Trolinger was the victim of a "liquor ring," who were attempting to "railroad" him to his death in order to cover up their part in the crime.

Trolinger was represented by Attorney Len B. Guillebeau and the prosecution was conducted by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, assisted by Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson.

The defendant, however, was not allowed to walk from the courtroom.

"Peggy" Letters Figure In Lilliendahl Trial

POSTMISTRESS TELLS OF CORRESPONDENCE

BY SAM LOVE.

Miss Landing, N. J., December 1. (United News.)—The state rested its case today against Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and her "very friendly" neighbor, Willis Beach, charged with the murder of Dr. William Lilliendahl, venerable narcotic specialist.

The ending came abruptly, after Samuel Beck had testified that Beach confessed the murder to him in a Baltimore park, and the South Vineland postmistress had told of the clandestine "Peggy Anderson" correspondence.

The last of the 67 state witnesses had hardly left the stand before Robert H. McCarter was on his feet demanding that the indictment against his fair but middle-aged client be dismissed.

McCarter prefaced the motion with a lengthy resume of the weakness in the state's case, to which Supreme Court Justice Campbell listened attentively.

"Motion denied," Justice Campbell said crisply, when McCarter had finished.

Mrs. Lilliendahl, whose eyes had been bright with hope, drooped hopelessly.

A moment later her relatives, including the brother of the husband she is accused of killing, hurried forward to comfort her. They were enabled to give her heartening hugs and hand squeezings by adjournment of court.

Willis Beach confessed to the murder of Dr. Lilliendahl to him in Baltimore on October 1, described the crime and enlisted his aid to raise $500 defense money, the state's star witness testified.

The witness was Samuel Beck of Texas and other points. He left the

Illinois Town Ask Payment Of Loan Made Sunday Laws In Revolution

Ordinance Would Forbid Housewives From Preparation of Meals.

Lawrenceville, Ill., December 1.—(AP)—Members of the city council plan to introduce a new ordinance at the regular meeting tomorrow night, which, if passed and is constitutional, will forbid housewives from preparing Sunday dinners and physicians from answering sick calls on Sunday.

Several weeks ago one of the councilmen introduced an ordinance to prohibit Sunday shows.

City officials claimed this was not properly drawn and a committee was appointed to draw up another. Passage of this ordinance will give the city a "blue-law" which will keep restaurants from opening, gasoline stations from operating, garages from working or drug stores remaining open on Sunday.

Delivery of Sunday papers also would be banned under the proposed law. Passage of the law will be bitterly fought by business houses and many of the residents.

Pittsburgh, Pa., December 1.—(AP)—Repayment of a $400,000 loan said to have been made by Jacob Dehaven, a colonial patriot, to George Washington for military supplies during the revolutionary war, will be sought of the present government, judges here of the Dehaven estate announced today.

Owen Harely, a resident of West Virginia, is the closest living descendant of the patriot of whose niece he is the son. Harely's son, Alonso O. Harely, of Pittsburgh, said documents left by Dehaven and now in the hands of relatives, revealed the loan which was credited with aiding greatly the Americans in their fight for freedom.

The documents he said, reveal that Washington promised to repay the loan but throw no light on why this was not done.

Descendants of Dehaven, living in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kansas have solicited the aid of Congressmen M. Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, and Carl Bachman, of West Virginia, in pressing their claim against the government.

DAWES. COOLIDGE "ROW" IS DENIED

Vice President Denies Report, Declaring His Conference Was Very Friendly One.

Washington, December 1.—(AP)—Vice President Dawes passed long enough today during a round of calls on President Coolidge and other high administration officials to reiterate that he is not a candidate for president, and that he favors the nomination of Frank O. Lowden.

The vice president, who returned to Washington last night, spent half an hour with the president and later emphatically denied published reports that he and Coolidge had had a disagreement during his visit.

"I had a most pleasant visit with Mr. Coolidge," General Dawes said. "The occasion was one when I called to pay my respects on my arrival at Washington. It resulted in a conversation of half an hour about the way we had spent our vacations, the health of our families and general business conditions without any reference on the part of either of us to politics."

Visits Officials.

Besides calling on the president, General Dawes visited Secretary Mellon, General Pershing and others before going to his office at the capitol, where he conferred with a number of senators. These brought to him some of the problems of organization and procedure, including that in the case of the contested seats of Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois.

Among those who called on the vice president was Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who is to conduct the fight for the seat of Vare. Reed reiterated his view that Vare would be seated.

Sensors George, democrat, Georgia, and Sackett, republican, Kentucky, also visited the vice president.

Other congressional leaders will call on General Dawes tomorrow to pay their respects and discuss procedure upon the convening of the senate next Monday.

Washington, December 1.—Vice President Dawes today declared himself against a "return to the states of the powers and duties naturally devolving on them," and declared that "we should pass no law which is not generally believed in."

Bank Robber's Sacrifice For Woman Proves Useless

Cherokee, Okla., December 1.—(AP) Dave Brown, youthful Oklahoma bank robber, accepted a sentence of death to save the woman he loved but he placed himself in the shadow of the electric chair in vain.

Pearl Black, the woman in the case, today was under sentence of 15 years in prison for participation in the robbery of the Farmers' State bank at Jet, Okla., a year ago, the crime for which Brown received the death sentence because he refused to "sneak."

Brown pleaded guilty last March to the robbery, with firearms, a capital offense, but flatly refused to divulge the names of his confederates. District Judge Charles Swindall advised him his sentence would be lightened if he revealed the names of the others involved.

"Otherwise," the judge said, "you will be sentenced to death."

The youth kept his silence and heard the death penalty pronounced with calmness.

Officers finally learned the identity of Brown's companions in the robbery and arrested Mrs. Black.

Brown was brought here from the death cell in the state penitentiary to testify in her trial. He gave what he said was a complete story of the holdup.

He fell in love with Mrs. Black, he said, when he met her in Enid. She exhibited a photograph of a man whom she declared to be her husband. This man, she said, was behind prison bars for a $2,000,000 mail robbery in Chicago.

"She asked me if I had any nerve," Brown told the jury. "When I told her I did, she telephoned to Paul Martin at Shawnee. He came to Enid and the three of us talked about robbing a bank."

Brown said that he did not know which bank would be robbed until two days before the event.

Mrs. Black admitted on the witness stand that she sat in a parked car on the salt plains near Jet, while the robbery was in progress. This was the car in which the robbers escaped.

An appeal in Brown's case is pending. He is the first person to be sentenced to death in Oklahoma for a robbery in which no one was killed and no shots were fired. Martin is being sought.

DRY WORKER PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO LIBEL

Newark, N. J., December 1.—(AP) The Rev. Dr. Marna S. Poulson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today pleaded not guilty to indictments charging him with transmitting statements to newspapers libeling the names of three judges.

The arraignment was in common pleas court, and Judge Dallas Flannagan set the trial for January 9, and ordered the release of Mr. Poulson under bail of $1,000 on each of the three indictments.

G. Roland Munroe, Anti-Saloon League counsel, asked that pleading be deferred to allow the defendant to study the indictments. That privilege was waived when Judge Flannagan denied the motion, but offered time for reading of the charges before a plea was entered.

The indictments—one for each of the three Newark newspapers—were the outgrowth of statements by Mr. Poulson that Judge Vanvorper, of the common pleas court, and Judges Albano and Boettner, of police court, "were in on the vicious combination that exists between organized vice and disorganized law enforcement." Mr. Poulson has repeatedly averred that his charges included no implication of personal corruption.

John S. Berger, of Los Angeles, Calif., calling himself a boyhood friend of Poulson, told of the determined efforts he made to bring Poulson and his wife together again and of his final report to Poulson that his wife was hopelessly in love with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr.

"I said to Mr. Remus, 'Your wife wants nothing to do with you; she is madly in love with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr.'," testified Berger.

"When I reported to Mr. Remus he was the maddest man you ever saw. He raved almost constantly for 24 hours. He would not eat, sleep or take medicine."

"He acted like an insane man."

"I told Mr. Remus that on my second visit to Mrs. Remus she had said that Franklin L. Dodge would kill him on sight, that she said they had hired gangsters to kill him."

"He tore all his clothes off—collar, shirt—and pulled his coat and vest right in two. He took off his shoes and threw them through the window, and I am satisfied he was insane."

"How long did that last?" asked Elston.

"For hours and hours," replied Berger.

like that let him present it and not try to inject it by conjecture, supposition, innuendo or presumption. You drank plenty of whisky on your eastern trip. You hypocrite, you!"

Nobody paid any attention to Remus' outburst. It was the second time Remus had leaped up and hurled the wholesale liquor drinking charge at Basler.

"What that remark made?" Basler calmly asked Haar.

"That remark was made," replied the witness.

"What did Remus do?"

"Wanted to Fight."

"Remus wanted it. He tried to find the people who had made the remarks and wanted to fight them."

Haar previously had testified that Remus would "fly up" over decisions in prison baseball games and "rave a little" when guards were placed in front of his hotel door in Atlanta while he was out of the prison to testify in the trial of former Warden Sartain.

Haar admitted that he had made a deposition for use in Mrs. Remus' divorce suit in which he had described Remus as cursing much, wanting to fight other prisoners, making "all sorts of remarks," and alleging that his wife had mistreated him. It was sworn to in 1926.

The divorce case was pending when Remus shot and killed his wife in Eden Park here last October 6 as she was en route to court.

Sought Reconciliation.

John S. Berger, of Los Angeles, Calif., calling himself a boyhood friend of Remus, told of the determined efforts he made to bring Remus and his wife together again and of his final report to Remus that his wife was hopelessly in love with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr.

"I said to Mr. Remus, 'Your wife wants nothing to do with you; she is madly in love with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr.'," testified Berger.

"When I reported to Mr. Remus he was the maddest man you ever saw. He raved almost constantly for 24 hours. He would not eat, sleep or take medicine."

"He acted like an insane man."

"I told Mr. Remus that on my second visit to Mrs. Remus she had said that Franklin L. Dodge would kill him on sight, that she said they had hired gangsters to kill him."

"He tore all his clothes off—collar, shirt—and pulled his coat and vest right in two. He took off his shoes and threw them through the window, and I am satisfied he was insane."

"How long did that last?" asked Elston.

"For hours and hours," replied Berger.

Berger was the third tale bearer to Remus on the witness stand today. Just preceding him was Orrien N. Weber, Pawpaw, Mich., farmer, now resident in Chicago.

Sturges Carried Remus.

Mrs. Remus carried four pistols and wanted to "get" him; Mrs. Remus gave Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., a high-priced motor car; Mrs. Remus had the initials on the Remus family plate changed to correspond with those of Dodge, and Mrs. Remus took Remus' whisky certificates to Dodge at Lansing, Weber testified he told Remus.

Dodge, former department of justice agent assigned to prohibition work, obtained the conviction of Remus, then known as the "king of bootleggers."

Remus' defense maintained that Mrs. Remus and Dodge then began an association ended only when Remus met her en route to divorce court here last October 6 and killed her.

STATE CLOSES CASE ON MRS. LILLIENDAHL

crowded courtroom, to find a defense subpoena awaiting him at the door.

The defense lawyers had kept in mind something that the spectators had forgotten—that unless Sam Bark's damning assertions were thoroughly discussed, the flustered widow and her hawk-eyed neighbor might be executed.

Four other Baltimore witnesses flashed through the witness box to corroborate that Beach and Bark held a conversation.

Norwood Schoemmer, a resident of Baltimore, an apartment house, walked unhesitatingly up to Beach, laid his hand on his shoulder and said: "This is the man."

Nelson Reichter, a youth; Patrick Gannon, an incinerator fireman, and the other witness were not so certain of their identification.

"Peggy" Letters.

The famous "Peggy Anderson" letters came into the case today, too, but to the obvious disappointment of feminine spectators, they were not read. Mrs. Carolyn Tammerlain, now-checked postmistress of South Vinland, testified that "Peggy Anderson," whom she identified as Mrs. Lilliendaahl, received as many as three of the burning epistles a day.

She described the bald-headed postman as donning gold-rimmed spectacles to peer at his billets-doux, and said he often met "Peggy Anderson" in person in the romantic confines of the rural postoffice.

The spectators giggled and Beach blushed when the postmistress said he used to call for "Peggy" letters before she could cancel the stamps on them.

Bark ridiculed.

Defense Attorney Robert H. McCarter heaped ridicule upon the mid-aged Bark. McCarter brought low Bark's claims to legal learning but couldn't make him admit that he wasn't a lawyer. Bark's grandiloquent over-sized calling card reading, "Samuel Bark, attorney-at-law, Bark building, Dallas, Texas," suffered a dreadful fate. The card turned out to have been printed in 1914. Bark never practiced law in Dallas. He owned no building there. But by this time the latter was insinuating that he probably couldn't read or write.

Insists on Story.

Bark refused to retreat one iota from his description of himself as a lawyer, rancher, a professional liar, a thrower in wild west shows, a real estate dealer and finally, to cap the assortment, as a bridegroom.

A double chin, a soothing voice, ingratiating manner, a fawn-colored suit, a blue-checked shirt, and a yellow and black necktie completed the get-up of this, the most genial witness ever to give a man a neighborly push toward the electric chair.

Beach and the widow watched Bark intently as he told his story in the rambling manner of a country-store raconteur.

Acres Beach.

Bark said that he first met Beach in Philadelphia more than a year ago. Fifteen days after Dr. Lilliendaahl was killed, and while troopers were hunting Beach, Bark met the fugitive Romeo in Gilmore Park, Baltimore. The meeting was arranged by Clyde Thompson, another former Texas and mutual friend. Beach wanted to borrow $800 on some jewelry, Bark said.

"Beach said he and old Dr. Lilliendaahl had been having some trouble about some money for some dope he owed him. He aimed to pay it back while in New York but he didn't."

"Beach said that when he drove up to this lonely old place the old man started to raise hell and he shot him. Then he went to his car and drove away."

"Was there any signal?"

"I believe Beach said he hollered 'Yoo-hee' or something like that before he drove away and Mrs. Lilliendaahl gave the alarm."

Bark was forced by Justice Campbell and Prosecutor S. Cameron Hinkle to repeat his story several times.

GOVERNOR CALLS STATE'S ATTENTION TO ARBOR DAY

Governor L. G. Hardman, Thursday afternoon issued a statement to Georgians calling attention to the fact that today is national "Arbor Day" and urged the replanting of trees wherever possible.

In many sections of the state various civic clubs, schools and others interested in a movement of reforestation have planned elaborate exercises in observance of the day.

In his message Governor Hardman pointed out that Georgia is making rapid progress in carrying forward a definite forestry program and it is made possible due to the untiring support provided the state department by the citizens and by the public generally.

The whole nation is awake to the necessity for concentrated action, not only in forest protection but in the growing of new timber. Governor Hardman pointed out.

Many Distinguished Citizens To Arrive Today for Annual Chi Phi Fraternity Meeting

500 Members in Southern Zone Expected To Attend Two-Day Conference Here.

Approximately 500 members of the Chi Phi fraternity are expected in Atlanta today to attend the annual conference for the southern zone, to continue through Friday and Saturday. Among those coming for the meeting will be some of the most distinguished citizens of Georgia, Alabama, Florida and other states.

Judge Peter W. Meldrum, of the superior court of Chatham county, at Savannah, will arrive Thursday.

Richard W. Courts, Jr., president of the Atlanta Alumni association, that he will reach the city Friday night. Judge Meldrum is a trustee of the University of Georgia.

R. Cole, of Louisville, Ky., president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and head of the Vanderbilt university board of trustees, will also be here and will address the conference Friday afternoon.

W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has wired that he hopes to be present, but is not yet certain if he can break away from duties of his office.

The conference will open at noon today with a luncheon at the Capital City club. John A. Hinds, chairman of the zone committee, will preside.

At 8:30 tonight the delegates will attend a supper-dance at the Piedmont Driving club, which will be preceded by a short business session, at which time officers of the Atlanta Alumni association will be elected. The delegates will attend the Georgia Tech football game Saturday afternoon and the conference will close with a tea-dance in the evening given by the Omega chapter at Georgia Tech.

Large delegations from active chapters at Georgia Tech, Emory, Georgia, Vanderbilt and University of Alabama are expected.

While definite replies have not yet been received, invitations have been extended to the national officers of the fraternity, who are:

WOMEN ARE TOLD TO USE RED PEPPER TO ROUT ROBBERS

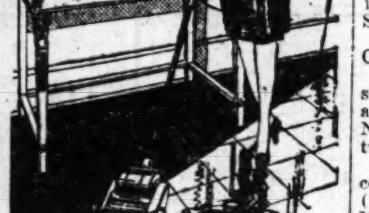

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)—Chicago women put into execution Chief of Detectives O'Connor's advice there will be a hot time in store for bandits of the cat type who prey upon women this winter.

At the mid-week show-up of criminal suspects at the Stanton avenue police station today the chief advised 50 women present to arm themselves with packages of red pepper and always carry them when they go out unescorted at night.

"If you are accosted by a bandit," said the chief, "crush the package and throw it in their faces. And then scream as loud as you can. By all means scream. If you can attract the attention of the police and bring them to the scene the robber will have difficulty in getting away."

16 ARE INDICTED IN FLOGGING CASE

Raleigh, N. C., December 1.—(AP) Sixteen persons, including a former high official of the Ku Klux Klan and a former deputy sheriff, were linked in indictments returned by the Wake county grand jury today with the secret assault on December 2, 1923, of Ernie Brewer and Joe Wood, Holly Springs young men.

The indictments named H. G. Guerd, who, as king klegg of the Klan, took a leading part in the formation of Klan chapters in North Carolina, and A. W. Thompson, Fuquay Springs, former prohibition officer and special deputy.

The 16 are charged with having flogged and seriously injured Brewer and Wood in a vacant house near Holly Springs. The case has been under investigation of the grand jury and the presentments were returned after it was said two witnesses called before the jury admitted they were members of the flogging party and gave the names of other alleged floggers.

Guerd, regarded as the principal defendant, is a resident in North Carolina. Formerly one of the chief organizers of the Klan movement in the state, he also was identified with a new organization known as the United Klansmen of America. He is understood to be now making his home in Birmingham, Ala.

Others named in the bills which charge secret assault and conspiracy were:

STRIPLING PRINCE OF BELGIUM WINS STALLION PRIZE

Chicago, December 1.—(AP) A strippling prince of the Belgian animal husbandry world, Lordbau II, ranked before European royalty and won the coveted silver cup awarded by King Albert of Belgium at the international live stock exposition today.

The cup was given to the famous stallion's owner, Charles A. Wentz & Son, of Kirby, Ohio, by Prince Albert, de Ligne, special emissary of King Albert. The trophy is one of the most highly prized among Belgian horse owners.

A chestnut sorrel mare, Persephone, owned by the Michigan Agricultural college, was a close second in the royal judging.

Because there had won the Belgian cup previously, Waynedale King, owned by Everett King, Chicago, grand champion stallion of this year's exposition, and Marretta de Rubis, the grand champion mare of the exposition, owned by Michigan State college, were ineligible at today's royal competition.

Another international medal, offered by the South Bonn Sheep society, of England, to the best class of purebred South Bonn sheep, was won by a flock from the Mountain Farm, Bradstreet, Massachusetts.

Cholera Causes Death of 3,000 Indian Natives

Karachi, India, December 1.—(United News.)—More than 3,000 natives are known to have died in the worst Indian cholera epidemic in many decades.

In Bengal alone, according to latest advices today, 2,130 persons died over the last week-end out of 3,703 cases which were under treatment.

The epidemic was particularly acute in the Malda district, where 900 deaths were reported. A shortage of water added to the distress of the sufferers.

Four hundred cases were reported in the Dinajpur district in three days, resulting in 229 deaths.

Forty-nine persons died in Calcutta, where 71 cases were reported.

Health officers of Calcutta have issued a warning to citizens that the plague is likely to continue.

Another 60 per cent increase of the death rate is regarded as inevitable. The outbreak came exceptionally early in the season.

Rome Residents Draw $200,000 For Yule Gifts

Rome, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Thursday the three Rome banks will begin the payment of the savings club checks and it is said that the total checks will number more than 4,000 and the total in dollars and cents will amount to approximately $200,000.

Last year the total in Christmas clubs paid out on December 1 amounted to $151,000 while the year before it was about $125,000.

U. S. SERVICE MEN TO PAY ADOPTED CHILDREN'S FARES

Washington, December 1.—(AP)—If adopted children of naval officers or enlisted men ride on railroad trains in the near future they will ride at the expense of the officer or man, and not at the expense of the government as in the past.

Comptroller General McCarl has issued such an order in the case of an ensign who adopted his 14-year-old brother, but Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, commandant of the navy yard at Charleston, S. C., probably will be affected more than any other man in the navy.

The seven children had their fares paid from New York to Charleston when the admiral returned from Brazil recently, and their fares from this country to Brazil and return were paid by the Brazilian government under the agreement between the United States and Brazil relative to the Brazilian naval mission, of which Admiral McCully was the head.

SLAIN GANGSTER IS BELIEVED 13TH KILLED IN FEUD

St. Louis, December 1.—(AP)—The bullet-pierced body of John M. Cody, an associate of Cuckoo gangsters, was found today in a ditch in St. Louis county. The discovery gave rise to the theory that the death of Cody may have been the thirteenth killing in the feud between rival bootlegging and extortion gangs here.

Because of Cody's association with Cuckoo gangsters and the war between them and another gang of bootleggers, the police were inclined to give the theory of gangster vengeance some credence. However, as Cody was known to be a heavy drinker, it was thought he might have been killed in a liquor brawl and his body taken to the edge of the city.

The body was discovered by a mail man making his morning round. There was only a small blood stain on the ground, leading to the belief the victim had been slain elsewhere. He had been shot in the head, right chest, left shoulder and right thigh.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY TOBACCO COMPANY

Winston-Salem, N. C., December 1.—(AP)—Directors of the R. J. Renolds Tobacco company, in session here today, declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share, and also an extra dividend of $1.50 per share on its common stocks, payable January 2, 1928, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 17, 1927.

MAN WHO FAKED ALTITUDE RECORD SUED BY BLERIOT

Paris, December 1.—(United News.)—Jean Calais, the French aviator, who admitted he faked two world's altitude records, has learned that troubles never come singly.

Added to his difficulties with the International Aeronautic Federation because he twice tricked the organization by using invisible ink on his barograph, thereby indicating he had broken the world's altitude record, Calais was named today defendant in a 25,000 franc ($1,000) damage suit.

Unless Calais repays Bleriot, the police indicated they would open an inquiry which might lead to his arrest. The world's altitude record now has reverted to the American, Lieutenant C. C. Champion, who attained 11,727 meters—38,465 feet.

TWO ROME EDUCATORS TO ATTEND MEETING

Rome, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—C. R. Wilcox, president of Darlington School for Boys, and Dr. W. D. Furry, president of Shorter college, are attending the annual meeting of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, which is being held this week in Jacksonville, Fla. Dr. Furry will have a prominent part on the program.

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

The New Convertible Standard Six Cabriolet (For 4 passengers) First Display

Complete, nothing more to buy

$1150 DELIVERED FULLY EQUIPT in Atlanta

The new Nash Standard Six 4-passenger convertible Cabriolet, now being given its FIRST display, sells at the drastically low price shown above, delivered to you, completely equipt, freight and war tax included.

Look over the equipment on this latest Nash. It's the best that money can buy—big, over-size, over-strength Biflex bumpers; rear fenderguards to match; latest type of shock absorbers; extra wheel; spare tire, lock and tire cover; actually more than $100 worth of extras included in its low price.

Don't forget it is a real convertible, with either a tan Burbank or black top optional, at no extra cost.

The rear deck seat is big and roomy. The upholstery is gray Colonial leather. Driving lights are controlled at the steering wheel. Instruments are grouped in a charming walnut finished panel. A smart car in every detail with sparkling nickel trimmings.

And a fast, powerful car, with a big 7-bearing engine, rubber mounted and precision balanced for quiet action. The 2-way 4-wheel brakes of Nash are oversize for super-safety. And the newly refined steering mechanism is the easiest on earth.

All this week the Cabriolet is being given a special introductory display at the showrooms of the dealers listed at right. Ask about the special terms now available on your present car.

There is some valuable retail territory open and we invite inquiries from capable and experienced automobile merchants.

COOLIDGES OPEN SOCIAL SEASON

Washington, December 1.—(P)—With traditional formality, the white house winter social season was opened tonight when President and Mrs. Coolidge entertained at dinner for members of the cabinet and their wives and Vice President and Mrs. Dawes.

This dinner is the first of a series including those for the diplomatic corps, the speaker of the house and members of the supreme court. In return, the President and Mrs. Coolidge during the winter attend dinners given in their honor by the vice president, the speaker and cabinet members, the few occasions on which they dine outside of the white house.

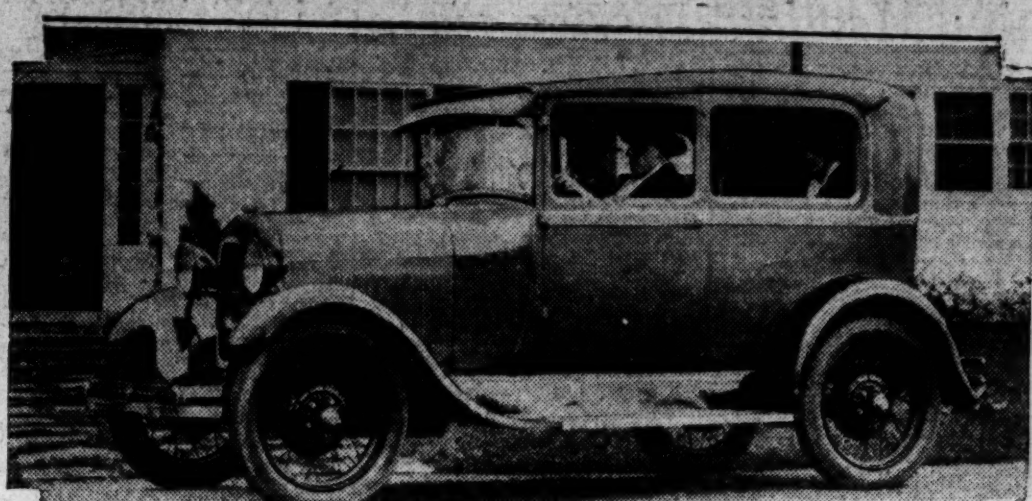

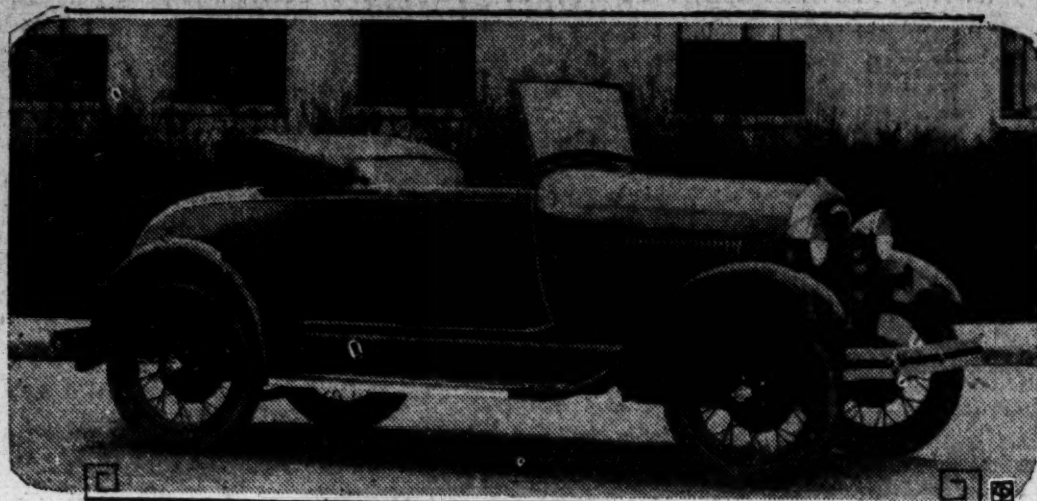

After the cabinet dinner tonight, a group of friends were invited for a musicale in keeping with the custom established by Mrs. Coolidge to round out such evenings.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Dawes and the cabinet group the dinner guests included William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Frank G. Allen, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Allen; Chairman Butler, of the republican national committee, and Mrs. Butler; Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, vice chairman of the republican national committee; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh; Alexander P. Moore, former ambassador to Spain; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Whiting, of Holyoke, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. A. Atwater Kent, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, of Washington.

Directors of the Sowega Melon Growers' association, of Adel, Ga., have gone on record as opposing congressional acceptance of bids by the Air Nitrates, Inc., and the American Cyanamid company on the Muscle Shoals power sites, favoring instead such disposition as will make for farm and industrial electrification of the southeast, according to announcement Thursday by Charles H. Cannon, president.

ASTRONOMICAL BODY TO HEAR GEORGE LUTZ

George L. Lutz, of Chicago, an authority on the manufacture of the modern telescope, will be principal speaker Saturday night before the first annual meeting of the Atlanta Astronomical society. Mr. Lutz has entertained and instructed many similar societies throughout the country and his appearance here is expected to bring out a record attendance.

With two of America's leading astronomers, Dr. Aitken, of the Lick observatory, and Dr. Harlow Shapley, of the Harvard college observatory, to be visitors in the south this winter, members of the local society are working to have them visit Atlanta. The meeting Saturday night will be held in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce building at 7:30 o'clock. Another feature of the session will be election of new officers and formulation of a program to be undertaken by the membership during 1923, it was announced Thursday.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD TODAY FOR MISS TAYLOR

Funeral services for Miss Mamie Taylor, 53, of Riverside, Ga., who was found dead hanging by a rope to a tree about 50 yards from her home Wednesday morning, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Harry G. Poole, The Rev. Jack Penn will officiate and interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

At an inquest held Wednesday afternoon in Poole's chapel by Coroner Paul Donohoe, a verdict of "death from self-inflicted strangulation by hanging" was returned.

Miss Taylor is survived by two brothers, H. J. and E. W. Taylor; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Gaskin, of Arcadia, Fla., and Mrs. W. C. Bullock, of Monticello, Fla., and her father, J. D. Taylor.

POLICE AUXILIARY MAKES XMAS PLANS

Preparations for an annual Christmas tree to be given in the armory of police station December 23, by members of the ladies' auxiliary of the Police Relief association, are rapidly being completed, according to members of the association.

The Christmas tree is an annual affair for all children of members of the police department under 10 years of age. Mrs. H. T. Brown is president of the association, while Mrs. J. A. Hollis is general chairman of the Christmas entertainment committee.

CHURCH TO CONDUCT TAG SALE SATURDAY

Forty to 50 workers of the Whiteford Avenue Baptist church, including a troop of Girl Scouts, Saturday will conduct a tag sale for the benefit of the church building committee which is attempting to raise the debt on the church of $1,500. The church was organized two years ago with 30 charter members. The Rev. Hugh Latimer, pastor since June, has increased the congregation to 70 members.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT STRIKES RAIL MAN

R. F. Cleapor, 32, an employee of the A. E. & C. railroad, was treated at Davis-Fischer hospital Thursday for a wound in his right foot he received when a pistol fell from the pocket of a companion and exploded upon striking the ground. Cleapor and J. G. Brown, also an employee, had made an inspection of a freight car in the yards adjacent to Hunter street and were leaving when the accident occurred. Cleapor was rushed to the hospital in the private ambulance of Ed Bond & Company.

PRINCE WILLIAM ATTRACTING MANY

Despite the fact that fully 900 out of every 1,000 people in Atlanta can talk, think and dream of nothing but the Tech-Georgia football game, a goodly number appeared at the box office of the Cable Piano company, North Broad street, on Thursday, when the ticket sale opened for the African hunting lecture to be given next Tuesday by Prince William, of Sweden.

Prince William, second son of the king of Sweden, comes to Atlanta after appearing in many other of the leading cities of the country and invariably attracting large crowds who have enthused over the fascination, wit and interest of the prince's descriptions of gorillas and pygmies in the least known sections of darkest Africa.

The prince has won international fame in many ways, including his successes as an author, poet, linguist and sportsman. But it is as an explorer and big-game hunter that he is best known and he has devoted the greater portion of his life to dangerous expeditions into the unknown regions of the world, in preference to the easy life which his birth held out to him.

The lecture which he will give at the auditorium on Tuesday is illustrated with still and motion pictures, and depicts the life of the mysterious pygmy tribes of Africa and the domestic habits of their near neighbors, the giant gorillas.

It is interesting to note that the only bribe which succeeded in securing admittance to the pygmy regions for the prince and his party was rations of salt for the dwarf men.

Special amplifiers have been installed at the auditorium to assure ease of hearing in all parts of the big hall, in addition to the fact that the prince has an exceptionally clear and strong speaking voice.

G. N. Anderson, prominent member of the local Swedish society, "The Vikings of Atlanta," will briefly introduce the prince in Swedish. After a short reply in the same language, the prince will hear an introduction in English from Bobby Jones, in all probability, and will then begin his distinguished lecture.

ASSISTANT FORESTER TO WORK FROM ALBANY

Headquarters of F. B. Merrill, assistant state forester, will be established at Albany, Ga., it was announced Thursday at the office of the forestry department. He will have charge of the long leaf pine belt in that section of the state. Charles W. Nuite, assistant forester, will establish headquarters at Waycross, it was announced by B. F. Lufburrow, state forester.

COP AND DOG SLEEP AS GARAGE ROBBED

Patrolman Herman Clay, of 98-B May avenue, reported to police headquarters Thursday that a duPont-toned automobile whistle had been stolen from his garage, while he was asleep during the day. Not only was he asleep during the robbery, but a prized German police dog was also caught napping. Mr. Clay stated in his report to headquarters.

3,041 Prisoners

Overflow Pen; Duck Mill Used

Athens may have her housing problem for the Georgia and Tech visitors this week-end, but that is nothing compared with the troubles of Warrenton, Ore., where the federal penitentiary is overflowing.

With new machinery being moved into a portion of the canvas factory, formerly used as a dormitory for prisoners, a new section of the duck mill has been converted into accommodations for 250 prisoners.

The normal capacity of the prison is 1,540 men, but by doubling up the officials have been able to take care of the 3,000 prisoners. Now, with the prison population Thursday night reaching 3,041, and with many new arrivals expected in the next few days, the housing situation at the prison has become a veritable nightmare to the authorities.

The situation at present closely approaches that of last year and early this year when the peak of popularity was reached, with 3,264 prisoners. To relieve the crowded condition, provision was made Thursday night for the new arrivals to sleep on cots placed in the cell corridors.

Respect for Law Of Land Is Urged By Rockefeller

New York, December 1.—(AP)—Declaring character to be the foundation of success, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., told employees of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, at a company club banquet tonight, that American business should emphasize a high standard of business ethics.

HERBERT HADLEY, EX-GOVERNOR DIES

St. Louis, December 1.—(AP)—Former Governor Herbert S. Hadley, chancellor of Washington university and well-known in national educational circles, died at his home here at 7:15 o'clock tonight after a prolonged illness.

Hadley fought illness even while he was governor of Missouri and after his first term moved to Colorado in the hope of recovering. He had fully regained his strength when appointed chancellor of the university.

Known as one of the "progressive" type of republicans, he acted as a leader to have the late Theodore Roosevelt, in certain changes in the national convention at which William Howard Taft got the nomination.

He gained fame in Missouri when he overrode the big oil interests of the state when serving as attorney general. He served in that office from 1905 to 1909, and then occupied the governor's chair for four years.

His career as an educator brought him once to consideration for presidential candidacy and again to the brink of election to the vice presidency. Political leaders said it was only the disorganized condition of the republican presidential convention of 1912 which prevented his nomination.

In 1924 Hadley turned a deaf ear to a group of national leaders that he allow his name to go before the republican convention for the vice presidency, giving as his reason the sense of duty he felt toward Washington university.

He was born in Olathe, Kan., February 20, 1872, and was educated at the University of Kansas, Northwestern university and the Chicago Law school.

MEXICAN COURT WILL ASK CALLES TO AMEND OIL LAW

Mexico City, December 1.—(United Press.)—The supreme court will ask President Calles and congress to amend the supposedly unconstitutional features of the petroleum law which aroused a controversy with the United States, according to authoritative information.

It is reported that the highest court in the land will ask that the allegedly restrictive section of the law be eliminated.

Representatives of the ministry of industry, commerce and labor, however, are expected to contend that the law is not retroactive.

It is understood that the next amparo or injunction case to come before the court will be that of the International Petroleum company. The industry, commerce and labor department is expected to declare that the recent decision concerning the Mexican Petroleum company an American corporation, did not establish a precedent. Under ordinary circumstances in Mexico, first decisions are necessary to decide the final status of a law in question.

U. S. WARSHIPS SOON TO GATHER FOR MANEUVERS

Norfolk, Va., December 1.—(AP)—Approximately 50 vessels of the United States scouting fleet will assemble in Hampton Roads or at Yorktown during the next few weeks and will sail for winter maneuvers at Guantanamo, Cuba, January 7, officials at the naval base announced today.

In the fleet will be the battleships Wyoming, flagship of Vice Admiral A. H. Robertson, the fleet commander in chief, the Arkansas, flagship of Rear Admiral George W. Laws, commanding battleship division two; the Florida and the Utah. It is likely that the Texas, flagship of Admiral H. A. Wiley, commander in chief of the United States fleet, also will be here, as Admiral Wiley now is proceeding to the east coast from the Pacific.

The battleships, cruisers, aircraft tenders and supply ships will assemble in Hampton Roads, while the destroyers, about 32 in number, will assemble at Yorktown.

RADIO AUDITION CONTEST WINNERS NAMED IN WEST

Chicago, December 1.—(AP)—Miss Marie Bronarsky, 18, Chicago, and Harold A. Klack, an automobile factory employee of Flint, Mich., today were declared winners of the middle west district finals of the Arwater Kent Foundation's national radio audition contest, broadcast from station WGN, Chicago, November 19.

The victory carries the rights to compete with winners from four other sections of the United States in the national finals in New York, December 11, and assures both of shares of the foundation's gifts of $17,500 in cash, decorations, and musical scholarships.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION HEARS DR. ROYAL J. DYE

With Dr. Royal J. Dye, noted missionary, as the principal speaker, a one-day convention of the Christian churches in the city was held Thursday at the First Christian church, corner South Pryor street and Trinity avenue. The entire program, consisting of discussions of church work, was in charge of Rev. C. F. Stauffer, pastor of the church, and was in keeping with a series of 150 similar meetings in all parts of the United States.

Following a morning and afternoon service the convention was closed with two banquets at 6:30 o'clock, with all men delegates at one banquet and the women at the other.

Among the speakers during the two services were Dr. Dye, Mrs. M. M. Hays, of St. Louis, Mo., of the women's organization; Rev. Neal K. McGowan, of Lexington, Ky.; Thomas Moore, superintendent of the Christian Sunday school at East Point, Ga.; Rev. John H. Wood, of Windsor, Ga.; Mrs. Nathan P. Moore and Mrs. J. H. Wood, of Windsor.

ANOTHER TOWER FUGITIVE HELD; THREE AT LARGE

Deputy Sheriff R. T. Tolbert and J. M. Rolander, left Atlanta Thursday night for Cedarhurst, Ga., to bring back to Fulton county, Lehman Parks, one of the escaped prisoners from a Fulton county tower about two weeks ago.

Sheriff James T. Lowry, early Thursday night received a message from Pope county authorities, stating that the prisoner was caught during the day and is being held in the Pope county jail for Fulton county authorities.

With Parks in custody, only three of the ten escaped prisoners remain at large and Fulton county officers expect to capture the trio within the next few days.

GARVEY WILL SAIL FOR AFRICA TODAY

New Orleans, December 1.—(AP)—Marcus Garvey, self-styled "president general of Africa," leaves the United States for Africa tomorrow, a deportee aboard the United Fruit company's steamship Saramacca. He was ordered deported following his conviction in New York on a technical charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with promotion of the Black Star steamship line.

How to Banish Piles

Dr. Leonhardt Has Discovered a Harmless Internal Remedy That's Guaranteed—No Cutting—No Messy Salves.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the torment of piles, because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting, he discovered the cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Jacobus Drug Stores and all drug stores are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should try Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID without delay.—(adv.)

SUSPECT IN KIDNAP CASE IS ARRESTED

Shreveport, La., December 1.—(AP)—After successfully evading police officers by hiding behind a door last Tuesday while they were searching his apartment, E. R. Ross, wanted in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, and other cities by federal authorities on charges of counterfeiting, violation of the Mann act and highway robbery, was arrested here today by Sheriff T. R. Hughes in a boarding house.

Ross, debonair and youthful, claiming to be only 19 years, admitted a number of crimes to Sheriff Hughes after his arrest. Among them, the sheriff said, was the daylight robbery of a Baton Rouge jewelry store when he and a companion made away with diamonds valued at about $2,000 and $11 in cash, but missed $20,000 in a safe when the proprietor claimed insurance on the combination. He also admitted the theft of an automobile in New Orleans and violation of the Mann act. He was noncommittal when questioned about implication in the robbery of a Shreveport jewelry store several days ago.

Ross told officers his home was in Atlanta, Ga., but that he was "at home everywhere." He and Jesse H. Smith, the latter arrested in New Orleans, were accused by Cecelia Beatty and Betty Donaldson, of Atlanta, with having kidnapped them after a ride in an automobile in Atlanta.

The girls claimed they were threatened with death should they attempt to leave the men and that they were locked up by their companions in a New Orleans apartment.

Miss Beatty effected their release when she found opportunity to leave the apartment long enough to telegraph her father in Atlanta of their plight.

Ross and Smith will be removed to Jacksonville and Miami to stand trial on indictments charging counterfeiting and later will be surrendered to Louisiana authorities for the Baton Rouge robbery, officers said tonight.

BENNETT DOTY WILL BE FREED IN FRANCE TODAY

Paris, December 1.—(AP)—Bennett J. Doty, American soldier, who went back to Morocco recently to serve the unexpired term of his enlistment in the French Foreign Legion, after having been released from prison, will be mustered out tomorrow. Doty's commanding officer sent a message announcing this to The Associated Press tonight from Sidi Bel Abbes, Algeria, where Doty is stationed.

The legionnaire will be given his liberty at Oran, and will embark Saturday for Marseilles. Orders for his release from the foreign legion reached Sidi Bel Abbes last night.

ROMANIAN COALITION CABINET THOUGHT NEAR

Bucharest, December 1.—(United Press.)—Agreement between Premier Vintila Bratianu and Julius Maniu, leader of the national peasant party, whereby a coalition cabinet will be formed under a non-party premier, is believed near.

The liberal (Bratianu) and the peasant (opposition) parties will be equally represented on the new cabinet, it was understood today. General elections will be called after its formation which, it is believed, will shatter definitely former Crown Prince Carol's ambitions toward regaining the throne or becoming a factor in the regency council.

THE CONSTITUTION EXPRESS

Boys

Girls

It's Easy ONLY 3 NEW ^(Daily and Sunday) SUBSCRIPTIONS NEED

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION makes it possible for thousands of boys and girls in Georgia, and especially the city of Atlanta and suburbs, to possess the "Constitution Express."

This smooth-running, $\frac{3}{4}$ -in.-tired COASTER WAGON wins its way into the heart of every child that sees it. It's the dandiest COASTER WAGON ever given away by any newspaper. It has a large-sized hardwood body (16x36 inches) finished with glistening varnish and brilliant paint. Heavy steel bolsters front and rear are extra braced. Silent running roller bearings and extra heavy single disc wheels make this the fastest and hand-somest COASTER WAGON that you have ever seen. Tires are solid rubber.

Strong--Swift--Silent

You cannot surpass this handome "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagon for strength and durability. No old-fashioned wood bolsters to split and crack — The "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" has bolsters of heavy steel. Wheels have roller bearings, just like the big automobiles.

Read These Instructions:

New subscriptions must be from persons not at present subscribers to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, nor have been for the last thirty days, and must not, directly or indirectly, take the place of someone who is now or has been a recent subscriber.

Such new subscriptions will be acceptable in Atlanta and in any town where The Constitution has a carrier delivery service, provided the new subscriptions are acceptable to the carrier.

Gentlemen:

Deliver or mail to me your COASTER WAGON book for subscription blanks and instructions for securing three new six-months' subscriptions to The Daily and Sunday Constitution for the "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," as advertised by you in The Constitution.

Name

No. Street or Avenue

P. O. Box No. State

HOW TO EARN ONE

If you want one of these beautiful "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons, the first thing to do is to clip out the coupon at the left, bring or mail it to The Constitution for a Contest Book. When you get the book, if "Dad" isn't a subscriber to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, get his subscription first and then you will need two more.

THREE DAILY AND SUNDAY NEW SIX-MONTHS' SUBSCRIPTIONS.

That's all! Just three new Daily and Sunday six-months' subscriptions are required to earn one of these beautifully finished "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons. You are not to collect any money.

IT'S EASY WORK!

It will take you only a short time to get three new subscribers to The Constitution, because everyone knows that The Atlanta Constitution is Atlanta's outstanding newspaper. Besides helping you earn your "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," the people who sign the agreement or contract for you are receiving the news of the world, interesting reading articles and features for every member of the family for six months.

Start out right now! It's more like fun than work. Get a contract book, secure from good, reliable, financially responsible subscribers, "signature of each," bring or send it to The Constitution office. After the subscriptions are verified and found "O. K.," the wagon is yours.

Read These Instructions Carefully:

Out-of-town workers must turn their coupon book of subscriptions, after it has been filled out with the required number of subscriptions, each signed by the subscriber himself, over to the local Constitution dealer for his acceptance of the new subscriptions.

Newsdealer will indicate his acceptance by writing on the back of the subscription agreement "O. K., accepted by me," and sign his name. Then the book with required number of accepted subscriptions to be sent to The Constitution.

COASTER WAGONS will be shipped by express (collect) to out-of-town workers. Those who live in Atlanta and suburban towns will get the wagons at The Constitution office.

NEW AUTO LICENSE TAGS MOVING FAST

Heavy sales of 1928 automobile license tags were reported by the state motor vehicle department at the close of business Thursday, the first day on which license tags for the ensuing year were placed on sale. Receipts of the window department were unusually heavy while the mail order business began with a large number of orders. Secretary of State S. G. McElendon was much gratified at the smooth manner in which the office system worked Thursday in disposing of the license tags.

Automobile owners must obtain their new tags by February 1, 1928.

under the new motor vehicle law adopted by the legislature at its recent session. The sale will close one month earlier this year, the final date for buying 1927 tags, without the attachment of penalties, being March 1. To give the public two full months to buy the tags without penalties Secretary McElendon moved the beginning of the sale up from January 1 to December 1.

This year license tags will be sold on a basis of the weight of the car instead of on the horsepower, as in the past. Secretary McElendon said he desired to stress the fact that the license purchaser must bring the model number of his car with him to obtain prompt service.

"The weight of automobiles, no matter in what year they were made, will be ascertained from the rating book by the model number of the car and unless the purchaser has this number he will be subjected to delays and inconvenience," Secretary McElendon said.

OGLETHORPE DRIVE REACHES $157,000

With the newly-enlisted Civitan club, headed by Sidney Wellhouse, chairman, slated to make its first report today at the regular daily luncheon report-meeting at the Henry Grady hotel, additional force is expected to be added to the Oglethorpe university endowment fund campaign for $500,000, which Thursday reached a total of $157,000.

The Civitan club decided to enter the active field of work in the drive through a committee at a recent meeting which was featured by an address of Dr. Thoswell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, in which he pointed out the necessity for Atlanta to accept the challenge of J. T. Lupton, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who made an offer of $250,000 provided an equal sum was raised in Atlanta.

"While the addition of the Civitan club to the roster of workers has helped wonderfully," Dr. Jacobs said Thursday, "the crying need is still for more workers who will give a bit of their time to the pledging of subscriptions. Many subscriptions to the drive have not been obtained simply because there was not a sufficient number of workers to call for them."

The total to be raised in Atlanta has been cut down to $103,000 through the exceptional generosity of several prominent local business men. When this sum is raised, making a total of $250,000 in Atlanta, Mr. Lupton will present Oglethorpe with a check for a similar amount.

Part of this resulting $500,000 will be used to pay debts of $150,000 now outstanding against the university, and the remainder will be invested in sound securities as an endowment fund.

Persons willing to devote a little time to the drive are urged to communicate with Oglethorpe university or to telephone or call at campaign headquarters in the Henry Grady hotel, or to get in touch with Dr. Jacobs, Judge Edgar Watkins, Robert H. Jones, Jr., or other of the drive leaders.

DR. W. T. HUNNICUTT TO PREACH SUNDAY AT NEW CHURCH

Dr. W. T. Hunnicutt, well-known Methodist minister and for the past four years presiding elder of the South Atlanta district, will preach his first sermon Sunday as the pastor of the Inman Park Methodist church.

On the expiration of his appointment Dr. Hunnicutt was assigned to the pastorate of the Inman Park church by Bishop W. B. Beauchamp at the conference of the M. E. Church, South.

Dr. Hunnicutt has many friends and admirers in the city and members of his congregation predict a large attendance Sunday when he will be in charge of two services.

NEW DIRECTORATE WILL ELECT 1928 CHAMBER OFFICERS

Special meeting of the newly-chosen directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will be called within the next few days to elect officers of the chamber for 1928, it was announced Thursday by President George W. West.

Officers to be elected by the directors are a president, three vice presidents and a treasurer, all to serve during 1928.

WINN IS GIVEN HIGH WESTERN UNION POST

A. L. Winn has been appointed plant superintendent of the southern division of the Western Union Telegraph company with headquarters in Atlanta. He succeeds the late L. H. Beck, who was division plant superintendent for about 17 years.

In 1911 Mr. Winn relinquished the position of plant chief with the Central Union Telegraph company at Toledo, Ohio, and came to Atlanta as division supervisor of lines for the Western Union, which position he has since filled. In his new position Mr. Winn will have jurisdiction over the territory south of the Mason and Dixon line and east of the Mississippi, save where with Oklahoma officers.

YOUNG'S NAME TO RESERVE BOARD

H. Lane Young, Atlanta banker, was elected Thursday a member of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta. This announcement was made by Chairman Oscar Newton, of the Federal Reserve bank following the tabulation and confirmation of election votes cast by the group one banks of the sixth federal reserve district.

Mr. Young succeeds Eugene R. Stand, of Atlanta, who declined to stand for reelection. His candidacy was suggested by Young's term on the board of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank begins January 1, 1928, and will run for a period of three years.

Mr. Young is vice president and executive manager of the Citizens & Southern National bank in Atlanta, where he is also a director in a number of local corporations, including the Atlanta Joint Stock Land bank, the Atlanta Title & Trust company, the Atlanta Banking & Savings company. His association as executive officer of the Citizens & Southern dates back to January 1, 1920.

Up to that time Mr. Young had been assistant cashier of the National City bank of New York, to which position he had advanced after acting as representative in the south for the New York institution for a period of time.

Mr. Young, however, is a native Georgian and entered the banking field when his first employment was obtained with the Merchants & Farmers' bank of Quitman, Ga., in 1890. He afterwards organized the First National bank of Quitman with associates, operating it until June, 1918, when he relinquished his post as head of the Quitman institution to become associated with the National City bank of New York.

In addition to the position of director which Mr. Young holds in the local Atlanta organizations mentioned above, he is also director in the First National bank of Quitman, Ga., the Consumers' company and the Thompson Cotton mills. He is a member of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association and is alternate member of the nominating committee from Georgia for the national body, in which he has been active for many years. Mr. Young has also served in various important capacities in the Georgia Bankers' association, taking an especially prominent part on the committees of that organization which have to do with the promotion of the agricultural welfare of the state.

J. A. McCrary was reelected class B director of the federal reserve bank of Atlanta by member banks in group 2.

MAJOR GENERAL M'RAE, GEORGIAN, IS RETIRED

Major General J. H. McRae, a native Georgian and one of America's most distinguished soldiers, retired Thursday from command of the second corps area with headquarters at Governors Island, N. Y., and will pass through Atlanta next Wednesday by motor en route to McRae, Ga., where he will spend the winter as the guest of his brother, L. M. McRae.

General McRae will celebrate his 64th birthday, the retirement age of the army, on next Christmas eve. For more than 40 years he was in the military service of his country and his honors include the Order of the Bath, the command of the Legion of Honor, and the Croix de Guerre with a palm for his participation in the battle of St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne.

Born in Lumber City, Ga., in 1863, General McRae graduated from West Point in 1886, and later served with distinction in the Spanish-American war, in the Philippines and in France.

SAN ANTONIO MAN NAMED DIRECTOR OF DALLAS BANK

Dallas, Texas, December 1.—(AP)—Joe H. Frost, of San Antonio, was elected Class A director of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas to succeed himself, and J. R. Milam, of Waco, was elected Class B director to succeed Frank Kell, of Wichita Falls, it was announced tonight after a mail ballot had been tabulated.

Frost and Milam will qualify at the regular meeting of the board of directors to be held on January 7, it was announced.

What effect, if any, the replacement of Mr. Kell on the board will have on the board's attitude toward the tenure of Lynn P. Talley, as governor of the bank, was not apparent tonight.

Members of a group of dissatisfied west Texas bankers, who criticized the bank's cotton loan policy, had previously announced the intention of electing two new members of the board in the hope of unseating Governor Talley. Whether they can effect a change on the face of the election results probably will not be known until the board meets on January 7.

LEGION TO MAKE CHRISTMAS PLANS AT MEET TODAY

Plans for the American Legion Christmas activity will be outlined at the Atlanta post meeting to be held at the Henry Grady hotel today at 12:30 o'clock. The charity work will include the searching out of scores of needy families in the city and the distribution of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities.

Last year approximately $1,000 of the legion funds were thus expended during Christmas week and fully this much or more will be spent this year. An interesting entertainment program has been prepared for today's luncheon. Through the courtesy of E. F. Duke, of Sears-Roebuck & Co., Misses Nell and Vera Long, known as the harmony team, will render song numbers, and Miss Leonora Hardy, well known dancer, will also appear.

Cap. Joiner, senior vice commander of the Atlanta post, will be in charge of the program. Every legionnaire in the city is urged to attend.

DR. PHELPS COMES AS HONOR GUEST AT ALUMNI DINNER

Dr. Shelton Phelps, of Nashville, Tenn., head of the Peabody college school administration, will be honor guest tonight at a dinner-meeting of Georgia alumni of the school, to be held at 6 o'clock in the Danforth Tea room.

Dr. Phelps will be a featured speaker at the convention of city and county school teachers here this week. J. O. Martin, state school supervisor and head of the Peabody Alumni Association of Georgia, will preside at tonight's banquet.

Mayor Puts Lid On Xmas Liquor And Gas Mixers

"Christmas spirits suffered a severe shock Thursday when Mayor I. N. Ragsdale called on members of the Atlanta police department to use extraordinary precaution to prevent automobile drivers from mixing liquor and gasoline on the city's highways. The mayor's appeal was made in an effort to prevent accidents and to assure a safe and sane observance of the holiday season.

He addressed the following letter to Chief of Police James L. Beavers in connection with the matter:

"We are now entering the last month of the year, and while the accidents caused from automobiles have not increased over last year in proportion to the increase in cars, yet I was very anxious that they should show a large decrease.

"I congratulate you and your entire force for the cooperation and splendid work that has been done and the harm that has prevailed among members of the force. It has been very gratifying to me.

"I am now asking you to impress upon your entire force the importance of giving to Atlanta the best month's work that has been done in Atlanta's history. The holidays are coming on and all of our people are more or less forgetful and violate certain of our ordinances. I must insist that you call attention to those violations and if the drivers of automobiles persist in reckless driving they must be apprehended and suffer the consequences.

We must look particularly after the drivers who persist in mixing whisky as they go. Let's teach them that this violation of the ordinance must stop.

"For the next two or three days Atlanta will be overcrowded with people who are visiting here for the ball game, and I trust you will have your force advised so that no accidents or disorder of any sort will happen to mar the pleasure of all our people."

ANNUAL ASPHALT CONFERENCE ENDS

Seeking abolishment of signboards on federal aid and state highways of America, the annual asphalt paving conference at its closing session Thursday at the Biltmore hotel adopted a resolution petitioning restrictive legislation and deploring erection of signboards on private property alongside public highways.

Another resolution adopted Thursday asks renewal of the federal aid fund of $75,000,000 annually to state highways, while a third calls attention to the highway motor death toll of 115,000 persons in the past five years, urging safety-first road construction to include wider roads and more carefully safeguarded curves.

A third urges on county, state and federal road officials the early surfacing with modern bituminous materials, of all tributary and secondary roads of the country.

Closing one of the most interesting and instructive meetings since its organization here six years ago, the conference Thursday held its last business session, although most of the members will remain for a golf tournament at East Lake Country club.

The conference, put on under the auspices of the asphalt association and the association of asphalt paving technologists, brought together some 450 representatives of the road building industry for a five-day meeting at the Biltmore hotel.

B. N. Seymour, engineer in charge of asphalt work for the Georgia highway board, was principal speaker at the business meeting Thursday morning. Others who spoke were V. L. Ostrander, manager of the asphalt association, of Albany, N. Y., and L. B. West, of Chattanooga, president of the West Construction company.

Shortly before noon Thursday the meeting adjourned to allow delegates to attend a barbecue at Lakewood.

rumored that as high as $40 and $50 had been asked and paid for grand stands in the mid-section, with less desirable pasteboards fetching virtually any price from $10 up.

Mayor J. N. Hagdale wrote Chief of Police James L. Beavers Thursday stating that he had been told of the activities of the scalpers and urging prompt suppressive steps by the law enforcement branch of the city government.

"This is detrimental to sportsmanship as well as a violation of law," wrote the mayor, "and I earnestly desire you to request your men to be diligent in their efforts to curb 'scalping' practices in the city."

The railroads, as indicated, have provided a plentiful supply of extra Pullmans, "I'll down the various lines, ready to hitch on to their trains to couple up into specials if the necessity arises. They'll bring all who wish to come.

Extra Buses Ready.
The interurban bus lines, reaching out to Macon, Chattanooga, Rome, Athens, Dalton, Gainesville, Newnan, LaGrange and all the other surrounding cities, are sending out extra buses to their out-of-town terminals, to be ready for the rush Saturday morning.

If the regular buses won't carry the load, they'll put on one, two or three extras on each schedule, accommodating as many as seek this form of transportation.

And all the private automobiles for hundreds of miles around will converge on the city. And those who cannot raise the price of transportation will walk. Yes, sir! Scores of 'em are planning to walk from Athens to Atlanta. And from other places. But the students at Athens will walk the road to get here if they can't make it any other way.

For Saturday is the day of the biggest game of 'em all.

And there is going to be crowds. Crowds, throngs, masses, floods and huge aggregations of people.

Near to 40,000 noisy throats will greet the teams at Grant field. Thousands more will gulp with disappointment as they fail to get in to see the game.

And the score will be—
Wouldn't you like to know?

Officials of the Georgia Power company stated Thursday night that every available street car will be pressed into service on the West Peachtree line Saturday morning, until game time in order that the crowds may be accommodated.

The cars will be run as often as traffic will permit. It was stated that the Georgia Power company's West Peachtree and Peachtree lines are the only ones near the Tech stadium available at this time.

Due to the exerting and widening development on Luckie street, the Luckie-to-Water Works street cars, which formerly passed within two blocks of the stadium, will not be running.

and then follow North Avenue, east or west as the case may be, to your destination—if the traffic will let you.

Police on Job.
When you get within scoring distance of the field there'll be several score traffic police to direct you. Traffic will be kept moving in both directions on the streets within three or four blocks of the field, and there will be no parking allowed on these streets with the exception of those adjoining the field on west and north sides, where parking will be allowed on one side of the street only.

But, if precedent means anything, you won't get near enough in your car to care about traffic regulations within six blocks of the field anyway.

R. J. Thiesen, secretary of the Tech Alumni association, announced Thursday that all alumni are being advised to walk to the field. The alumni association is giving a special luncheon at the Biltmore hotel before the game. It will start at noon promptly and end at 1 o'clock, even more promptly. Then the instructions will be, "Leave your car where it is and walk to Grant field. It's only about four blocks from the hotel."

This advice holds good for everybody, alumni or not.

Special Pullmans are being hitched on to practically every train coming into Atlanta between now and the time for the big event. For Georgians are coming in their thousands.

Pullmans for the Sleepy.
Several scores of these Pullmans will be parked in the railroad yards to provide sleeping accommodation for as many visitors as possible.

Incidentally, Atlanta, in her usual spontaneous manner, saved the housing question Thursday morning.

Following announcement that every hotel room in the city was engaged and that it appeared that several thousands of the 20,000 visitors coming would be homeless, private citizens rallied nobly to meet the emergency with the result that Mr. Thiesen, as chairman of the special housing committee for the game, stated Thursday that they had enough rooms listed to take care of all comers.

These rooms are listed on cards at the Tech Y. M. C. A. and at the chamber of commerce. Visitors who haven't secured hotel accommodations may call at either place and a card giving the name, address and telephone number of reputable private accommodations, priced at approximately the regular hotel rates, will be furnished. The individual will, however, be expected to make his own arrangements for the room or rooms. Cards will also be available at the alumni luncheon on Saturday.

Mr. Thiesen, on behalf of the committee, expressed deep appreciation of the manner in which Atlantans had promptly volunteered this solution of the housing problem.

Mayor Attacks Scalpers.
Reports that rickety scalpers were active in the city became current Thursday and police promised vigilant efforts to stop this practice. It was

Cloudy, Cooler Weather Seen For City Today

With generally cloudy, but dry and slightly cooler weather in prospect for Atlanta, the impending Tech-Georgia football game stands better than a meteorological break, thinks C. F. von Herrmann, of the local bureau.

"The outlook for Saturday is fairly favorable," Mr. von Herrmann said, "and while cloudy weather is anticipated for the state today, with probable light rains in south Georgia, a moderate drop in local temperature may mean dry weather for Atlanta during the next few days."

The heaviest rainfall since the first of August drenched Atlanta Wednesday night and early Thursday morning, accounting for .42 inches precipitation. Odds on the game turned toward Tech as indications seemed to point to a muddy field Saturday, according to students of the sport.

Thursday's low temperature of 44 degrees showed a 15-point drop under that of the previous day, while the mercury is expected to range between 40 and 58 degrees today.

The high temperature Thursday was 58 degrees.

15 MEXICAN STATES RATIFY SIX-YEAR PRESIDENTIAL TERM

Mexico City, December 1.—(United News.)—Fifteen state legislatures have approved the six-year presidential term recently voted by congress. The government expects that the necessary two-thirds vote of ratification by the state bodies will be completed within ten days.

ments dealing with every phase of security, all international treaties and every other convention remotely concerned with the problem. Lord Cuthbertson, president of the committee, was snowed under with a mass of papers, whereas, they should seek a practical accomplishment of the task without delay.

Viscount Saito said "security contains two elements, first, collective action by the league to prevent war, second, effective protection for states that are victims of aggression."

M. Paul-Boncour said, "the protocol is the climax of what we might attain and we must try to induce the countries to give information of how much assistance they are ready to give in a grave situation."

This constitutes the French endeavor to commit the powers to pledge army, navy and aviation quotas in common international military aid promised to help a member that might be wantonly attacked.

This writer is reliably informed that the soviet delegation intends to leave Geneva as soon as the committee winds up its work, probably Saturday night. Litvinoff, head of the delegation, does not intend to remain until next week when Sir Austen Chamberlain and try to renew Anglo-Russian relations.

Neither the American nor Russian delegates opened their mouths at this morning's session.

GOOD FAITH ON PART OF RUSSIA IS SEEN.

Washington, December 1.—(AP.)—Attributing good faith to Russia in its attitude toward the complete disarmament of nations, Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, today declared disarmament proposals must be treated with respect from whatever source they may come.

Europe, he insisted, is more heavily armed today than at the beginning of the world war and he urged that less relief was afforded from the military burdens economic ruin must ensue.

"While we have been talking disarmament," he declared, "arming has gone forward. There can be no such thing as recovery in Europe with this ever-increasing burden of armaments resting upon the people."

"Taxes in Europe are literally like cancer eating away the stamina of European people. This loitering, hesitating, hesitating effort at disarmament heretofore will really get nowhere."

"I do not think the proposal of Russia is in bad faith. I do not think Germany's manifested desire for disarmament is in bad faith. I have no idea that either Russia or Germany expects complete disarmament. I have an idea that while radical proposals have been made, much less radical proposals will be acceptable. But I think both the Russian and German leaders would like to see progressive steps toward disarmament."

Senator Frazier, republican, North Dakota, announced today that he would reintroduce his constitutional amendment proposal to prohibit war by the United States for any purpose.

The plan, which failed of enactment in the last session in his opinion would offer a solution for the difficulties confronting proponents of treaties to outlaw war.

Palmour, Sigma Nu Head, Speaks Today at Meeting

Oscar Palmour, Atlanta, who heads the national Sigma Nu fraternity, as regent, will be one of the principal speakers at the two-day conference of the Georgia-Alabama-Florida Sigma Nu fraternity, which will be held here today and Saturday.

Many distinguished figures from the three states, members of Sigma Nu, are coming for the gathering and it is expected that more than 400 delegates will be in attendance at the business session and social functions which have been arranged.

The convention will open with dinner at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Georgian Terrace hotel. The business session will be held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Georgian Terrace, at which time officers for the year will be elected, a convention for 1928 selected, and other matters of business discussed.

Following the business session the convention will attend the Tech-Georgia football game in a body. A reception at the Deane Hills club at 8 o'clock Saturday evening will conclude the program.

Out-of-town delegates and visiting Sigma Nus are requested to register immediately upon arrival at Room 131, Piedmont hotel, where full instructions for the week-end activities will be available and where all delegates may find a point of contact.

Perry A. Megawee is president of the Atlanta Alumni chapter of Sigma Nu, and entertainment for the convention is being furnished by this chapter at Emory. R. L. Fagan is chairman of a special committee on music for the gathering.

In addition to Mr. Palmour, speakers for the convention include Borden Burr, national democratic committee for Alabama, a former regent of the fraternity and now first vice president of the tri-state association; Allen Woodall, of Columbus, second vice president; R. L. Fagan, of Fort Valley, secretary-treasurer, and Sam H. Worley, Atlanta, publicity director.

United States Senator Walter F. George, president of the tri-state association, had planned to be present but finds he will be unable to attend.

Sigma Nu was founded in 1869 at the Virginia Military Institute, and has become one of the largest of the Greek letter fraternities, numbering over 90 chapters in the universities and colleges of the United States.

A special committee to prepare for the entertainment of the visiting delegates was named by President Megawee as follows:

W. L. Kemp, R. L. Fagan, Sam H. Worley, M. N. Shaeffer, Leeman Anderson, Chandler-Cochman, Embury Kendrick and Ed Jamison.

BACON WILL ASK PENSION BY U. S. FOR WOOD'S WIDOW

Washington, December 1.—(AP.)—A bill to provide a pension for the widow of Major General Leonard Wood will be introduced on the opening day of congress by Representative Bacon, republican, New York.

Bacon said today that he would ask for the pension "as an expression of gratitude by the American people for the patriotic and unselfish services which General Wood rendered his country and humanity in the war with Spain, and as a peacetime administrator in Cuba and the Philippines," he said today.

and Julian Binford, of the M. C. Kiser Realty company, handling the two transactions as agents.

Two Parcels Included

In the Candler-Haas transaction two valuable commercial parcels in Atlanta and large cotton mill properties in Greenville, S. C., were included in addition to the Walton building. As part consideration for the Walton building, the Walcott Realty company, through its president, Mr. Haas, accepted properties valued at $200,000, including the tract near Greenville of 73 acres improved with a cotton mill and a number of other structures, and two unimproved parcels on West Peachtree street, one at the corner of Alexander street and the other adjoining the south side of the Lullwater building, at Parker street.

The Walton building, which figured in the deal at a valuation understood to be $400,000, is situated on the downtown lot with 50 feet frontage on Walton street and 100 feet frontage on Cone street. It occupies the northeast corner of the intersection and is regarded as one of the city's principal office buildings, having ten floors devoted to office space and ground-floor stores. While the property was bought by Haas for the Lullwater Manufacturing company as an investment, the annual rental income of the building was not disclosed.

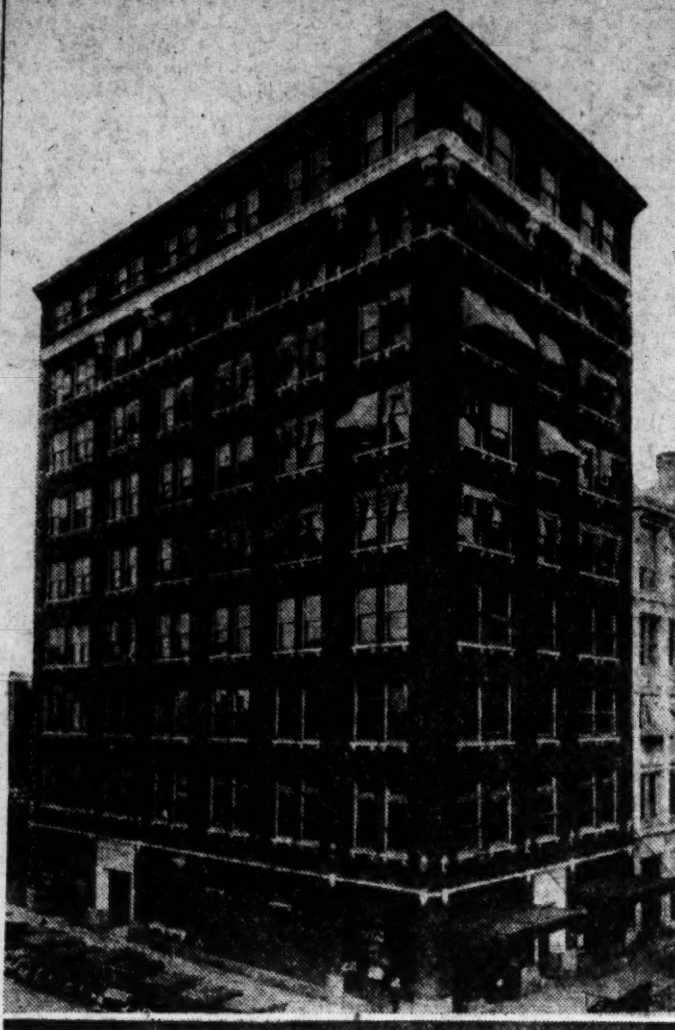

The vacant parcel at the southeast corner of West Peachtree and Alexander streets has a frontage of 80 feet on West Peachtree and 100 feet on Alexander. The other West Peachtree street parcel, taken as part consideration by Mr. Haas' concern, measures 50 feet on West Peachtree and extends back 100 feet. It is also unimproved but adjoins the large Lullwater building. Both properties are in the line of present development trends in Atlanta business real estate.

Second Sale.
Sale of the Walton building makes the second time deeds to the property have been transferred since the erection of the structure, and shows a substantial enhancement in realty values in that section. The building was constructed about 10 years ago for A. D. Adair and McCarty brothers. Until five years ago it was held by them and then was purchased by the Walcott Realty company for a consideration of $325,000, Mr. Haas said. The first purchasers retained it another five years before selling it Thursday to the present owners. In this transaction the property was valued in excess of $400,000.

The property involved in the Hightower-Wineoff sale is located on the northwest corner of Marietta street and Jones avenue, in Atlanta's principal industrial section. It is improved with a six-story concrete structure, one of the city's most modern commercial buildings, being erected in 1923 by the Massell Realty company according to specifications furnished by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The site has a frontage of 142 feet on Marietta street and 151 feet on Jones avenue and extends back 147 feet along the railroad spur track in the rear.

The exact price paid by Mr. Hightower was not disclosed but it was said to be a cash transaction with the value of the parcel placed at considerably more than $500,000 and no additional exchange of property. The building was purchased in the name of the Walton Investment company. Mr. Hightower gained control of the Walton Investment company when he bought the Wineoff hotel. Previously the company had been owned by Mr. Wineoff, who had the hotel property owned in the name of the Walton Investment company. In order to acquire the hotel, Mr. Hightower purchased the stock of the Walton Investment company from Mr. Wineoff. The Westinghouse building was then purchased by him through this company. It is understood that this par-

Prizes Awarded In Jaycee Drive For Membership

Paul Barcroft, popular member of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, is about the happiest and luckiest person in the city at present for he was unexpectedly presented Thursday night at the East Lake Country club with a pair of tickets to the Tech-Georgia football game Saturday afternoon, while several thousand others are willing to pay more than double the regular price for just an opportunity to get inside of the big stadium.

The gift of two tickets was a reward for his faithful and untiring efforts in winning the division prize for securing the most new members to the Junior Chamber of Commerce in a drive that closed Thursday night with the big dance at the East Lake Country club. His division, No. 3, secured 57 new members during the four-day drive.

C. D. Kimbro, with 28 new members, won the first individual prize of a beautiful new suit of clothes from L. C. Adler's. B. F. White was second with 18 members, and received a ten-dollar gold piece. M. E. Olsen won third prize, a year's dues to the Junior chamber.

With the 257 new members secured in the four-day drive, the Atlanta organization is one of the largest in the United States, and before another week has passed that total is expected to reach the 300 mark, for many young men in the city have promised to join the organization within the next few days, it was stated.

The drive was under the direction of N. Baxter Maddox, who was assisted by Dr. Herbert Kennedy, president of the club, and other officials.

More than 200 members of the organization and their friends attended the dance at East Lake Thursday night, which was a climax to the drive and in honor of the past presidents of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS

MEET HERE TODAY

More than 200 Georgia school superintendents will assemble in Atlanta today and Saturday for their second annual meeting with headquarters at the Henry Grady hotel. The department of superintendence was organized two years ago with Superintendent J. E. Purks, of Cedartown, as president, and Jack Lane, of Waynesboro, as secretary. The first annual meeting was held last December at the Henry Grady hotel with 175 superintendents in attendance. Both county and city superintendents comprise the association.

For the meeting one of the outstanding school authorities in the south has been secured for the principal address, Dr. Shelton Phelps, of Peabody college. The whole program for this session centers in "Curriculum Revision."

The full program for today follows: At 10 o'clock, "Curriculum Revision Primary Grades," by Supervisor J. O. Martion, state department of education and Superintendent T. M. Purcell, of the Cochran public schools, followed by discussions, "Curriculum Revision Intermediate Grades," by Superintendent J. I. Altman, Toccoa public schools and Assistant Superintendent Copeland, Richmond county schools, and Miss Catherine Dozier, New Holland schools. Afternoon session, "The Junior High School Principal," by J. W. Griffith, junior high school of Savannah, and T. J. Lane, Waynesboro public schools, followed by discussion.

Evening session, Dr. Shelton Phelps, Peabody college, Saturday morning at 9:30, election of officers; "The Minimum Standard Constants for College Entrance," by Professor W. T. Massey, of Mercer university, J. E. Purks, superintendent, Cedartown schools, presiding.

Get complete details TODAY at Ford salesrooms

FOR SEVERAL years we have been working on the new Ford car. For weeks and months you have been hearing rumors about it. For the past few days you have been reading some of the details of it in the newspapers.

Whatever you do today, take at least fifteen minutes to get the full story of this new automobile.

You will realize then that it is an entirely new and different Ford car, designed and created to meet modern conditions—a car that brings you more beauty, speed, quiet, comfort, safety, economy and stamina than you ever thought possible in a low-price car.

Automobile history will be made today, for the new Ford is not only new in appearance and performance . . . it is new in mechanical design. Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. Its low price is a reflection of manufacturing improvements and economies that are as epoch-making as the car itself.

Nineteen years of experience in building 15,000,000 automobiles are behind the new Ford car and have counted in its making. Resources unmatched in the motor car industry are its heritage and its birthright.

The Ford policy of owning the source of raw materials, of making virtually every part, of doing business at a small profit per car, has cut many dollars off the price you would ordinarily have to pay for a car like this.

So we say to you—learn about this new Ford car today. Compare it with any other car in the light-car field for beauty of line—for comfort—for speed —for quick acceleration—for flexibility in traffic . . . for steadiness at all speeds . . . for power on the hills . . . for economy and low cost of up-keep . . . for its sturdy ability to stand up under countless thousands of miles of service.

Then you will know why today will be remembered as one of the greatest days in the entire history of the automobile industry. . . . Then you will know why the new Ford car will be your car.

THE GUMPS—THE RUN ON THE BANK

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS.
John Arden, returning to his room at the Palace hotel, London, in the early hours of the morning, breaks his key in the lock and is given a room in a luxurious suite by the night watchman, who assures him that the police are not interested. He is about to retire when two women enter the apartment. One is addressed as Emma and the other as Mrs. Sinclair. Arden, hiding, hears them speak of the sudden death of Lord Farndale. Without being observed, he lets himself out of the apartment. The next morning he reads of the mysterious death of a peer. A little later he sees Emma on the street and is not far from her when she is knocked down by a motorcycle. Her dress is torn and he helps her to the nearest hospital. She accepts it and he offers to get her a taxi, telling her that they live in the same hotel. She tells him that she and her aunt have left the Palace, but tells him she will drop him at the hotel.

Later Arden learns that the police know that Mrs. Sinclair and Emma called on Lord Farndale just before his death and they are trying to locate the two women, watching all railway exits. Arden sees the two women at one of the railway stations and behind Mrs. Sinclair's back persuades Emma to come away with him in order to avoid arrest. Emma tells Arden that she is Lord Farndale's granddaughter. Arden takes her to a cafe for dinner, where he joins his friends, Andy Burke and Jamie Davidson. Detective Furness of Scotland Yard joins the party.

INSTALLMENT XI. THE LETTER.
"Were you really going to arrest me at Victoria?" Emma asked Furness. "You must not listen to Mr. Arden's fairy tales," chuckled the detective. "No one has been arrested. You would have been invited politely to postpone your journey until certain doubtful points have been cleared up by the police. That is what has happened to Mrs. Sinclair. She is now at Scotland Yard, and if she has half the gumption she thinks she has, her memory of recent events will be wonderfully fresh and accurate. Of course, your disappearance is worrying her, and that is all to the good. If you were in her company she would expect you to bear out her statements. As matters stand she may be all the more inclined to tell the truth. But who can prophesy what a woman will do? Not I, at any rate."

"But—where will Mrs. Sinclair spend the night?"
"At the house in Crimwell road which you both left about an hour ago. At least that is what I recommended, and I also suggested she should accept your alibi."
"What does that mean exactly?"
"You were carried off by your brother, weren't you?"
Emma reddened with embarrassment.
"I was so taken by surprise," she pleaded. "I simply had to say something."
"Well, well! Shall we put it, then, that Mr. Arden was deputizing for your husband?"
Emma's cheeks grew scarlet, but it was indignation that shone now from her eyes.
"My husband!" she repeated. "What an absurdity! I am not married!"
"Indeed! How interesting! Who, then, is the person who wrote to Lord Farndale in November last announcing that your father, Lord Farndale's son, was dead, and that he, the writer, wished to come home and make the acquaintance of his wife's grandfather?"

The girl's astonishment was too great for words at first. Her parted lips and wide open blue eyes, violet now in the subdued light of the restaurant, were eloquent of the tumult in her mind.
"Mr. Furness," she murmured huskily, "please do believe me, but no such person exists."
"Holy blue! It follows, therefore, that you could not possibly recognize his handwriting?"
The detective evidently did not expect an answer. He took a letter from a pocketbook and handed it to Emma.
"Read that!" he said. "Don't be in a hurry! Observe the date and address. They may help."
A glance at the envelope sufficed, however. Emma had acquired from her Spanish friends the art of expressing emotion by her face, and she showed now a marked repulsion.
"Juan de Braganza!" she cried. "He, of all men, daring to pose as my husband!"
"Every time a coconut!" grinned Furness. "Nevertheless, read what the worm has to say!"
Emma's action was most convincing. She took a sheet of note paper from the opened envelope much as though she had been warned that some noxious insect lurked within its folds. And now distaste yielded to a new wave of surprise.
"Buenos Aires, Calle Santiago, Casa Palmetto!" she cried. "Why, that is Mrs. Sinclair's house!"
"No description thus far," agreed Furness. "I think I shall like this ad, Juan de Braganza, though my appreciation will be strictly professional, of course. One of the few acquaintances I really miss is a cat burglar now doing seven years. He used to pose in hotels as a colonial bishop, an artistic opposite which kept me guessing for months. To my keen regret, I never saw him climbing a rain pipe in gaiters and shovel hat. No. Not aloud, please! When you have gone through it pass it around to the other members of the committee."

The document was one which certainly did not call for the publicity of a popular dining room, now almost noiseless as so many people had gone out. It ran:
Dear Lord Farndale: I hesitate to address you by the more intimate title of "grandfather," but trust it may be my privilege soon to win your regard as the dutiful husband of your granddaughter. At this writing it is only fit and proper that I should confine myself to the facts of the hour. Your son, my wife's father, William Denison Bernmore, died recently, and was buried in the English cemetery here. During his life it was his often expressed wish that his very existence should be kept hidden from his English relatives, but, now that he is dead, I deem it my duty to get in touch with you, and so, before it is too late, assure you that the family feud of a past generation is forgotten.

Where I am concerned, it is not even a memory, and, in that sense, I speak for both my wife and myself. It is possible, unfortunately, that you do not know you have a granddaughter. But you have, and your heart will delight in her. Although now an Argentine by marriage, she is English in every respect, as her mother, nee Elizabeth Maynard, was the only daughter of a highly respected English doctor in this city. You will remember that your son was somewhat Quixotic by nature. Indeed, his temperamental inclination toward the Latin standard rather than the Anglo-Saxon. For this reason, as we dreaded the effect of any excitement because of the threat of loss of the companionship of a dearly loved daughter, Emma and I agreed to keep our marriage a secret. Now, of course, it will be announced, and to satisfy certain scruples on my wife's part, we intend to go through a formal ceremony in her own church and secure a proper registration of the two marriages in the British consulate here. This, in effect, is merely a variant of the French civil and religious rites which may be more familiar to you.

Perhaps it will meet your wishes if I do not go further into details at this moment. Write and I shall answer all questions, welcoming those especially which may be suggested by your legal advisers. I have no technical knowledge of English law, so cannot decide offhand what points may arise with regard to the succession to your title and estates, matters which, though important to my wife, only concern me indirectly. I look for a speedy reply and sign myself, with all respect, your sincere well wisher.
The letter was written on note paper embossed with the Buenos Aires address, and bore the date of November 11.
Its effect on Emma was electrical. With a rare self-restraint in one so young she read it through from beginning to end without uttering a word of comment. Then she blazed into sudden wrath.
"O!" she cried impetuously, "what a tissue of lies! How could any one mean himself by torturing that poor old man with such dreadful falsehoods?"

Mrs. E. Haldeman - Julius

THREE CHILDREN THEIR OWN, SHE SAYS

Getting Tired of Publicity

Girard, Kan., December 1.—(United News.)—Mrs. E. Haldeman-Julius is getting tired of all the publicity.

So she issued a statement today condemning the press and the public for their curiosity about her family affairs. She made no mention of her husband, who had been the chief issuer of statements concerning their daughter's companionate marriage to Aubrey Roselle and the fact that Josephine, the daughter, was born six years before her parents were married.

"Am I to infer that when our second daughter, Alice, now only 10 years old, is ready to make her companionate marriage, and my son, Henry, 8 years old, is ready to make his, that I am to have on file for the benefit of an inquisitorial and sensational loving public their birth certificates and witnessed affidavits from the doctors who attended me at their births?" she asked.

"I refuse absolutely to do so either now in the case of our eldest daughter, or in the case of our two younger children when their marriages occur."

"The public is at perfect liberty to think what it chooses. I now categorically state and reiterate that our daughter Josephine is the daughter of Mr. Haldeman-Julius and myself. Furthermore, Alice is our own daughter, in spite of rumors to the contrary, and Henry is our own son."

"Josephine is not an adopted child. She is our own. And if in the search for sensationalism, wild stories are fabricated as they have been during the last two weeks about our children, I can only ask you as a mother to disregard them."

Explaining the announcement about Josephine's birth, Mrs. Haldeman-Julius said the girl "has always known she was our own child, that our other children knew it, that many of our intimate friends have long known it, and that Aubrey Roselle, now Josephine's husband, was fully aware of all the facts even before he became engaged to our daughter. I appeal to the decency and humanity of the American press and to every American mother and father to let us from now on live in peace."

MOVE TO ABOLISH PENALTY OF DEATH IN FRANCE LOSES

Paris, December 1.—(AP)—An indirect move to abolish the public execution in France and thus do away with the death penalty was defeated in the chamber of deputies today by a vote of 376 to 145.

M. Ury, socialist deputy, moved that the appropriation for the man who handles the guillotine be suppressed. "With him out of the way, there can be no more executions," he remarked.

Minister of Justice Barthou thereupon replied that suppression of the death penalty was matter which the chamber should pass on directly apart from the budget. The chamber supported this view after it was left understood that the question of abolishing the guillotine would come up later in regular order.

NATIONAL VOTE ON LIQUOR SOUGHT BY MICHIGAN MAN

Washington, December 1.—(AP)—An effort will be made by Representative McLeod, republican, Michigan, to obtain action by the forthcoming congress on a bill sponsored by him last session proposing a national referendum on repeal of the prohibition amendment.

He said today that he would reintroduce the measure the first day of the session and exert every effort to prevent it from being sidetracked again in the house judiciary committee.

SOVIET DENIES UKRAINE REVOLT

Moscow, December 1.—(AP)—The soviet foreign office today reiterated its denial of a counter revolution in the Ukraine.

The authorities, asserting that it could be shown on the spot that reports of fighting in the Ukraine were "utter falsehoods," intimated that the reports were emanating evidently from a newly hatched counter-revolutionary news factory in Rumania.

German consul agents in Ukraine have reported to the German embassy in Moscow that there has not been the shadow of a disturbance in the Ukraine during the past three months, while the Polish embassy here has received no disquieting reports from its representatives.

Dr. Fiedel Grover, assistant director of the American joint distribution committee, pursuing relief work in the Ukraine, denied reports coming from a Bucharest newspaper of fighting, saying that the Moscow headquarters of his organization had received no reports containing any intimation of disturbances from its branch offices at Kamenets-Podolsk or elsewhere.

Samuel Lubarsky, a representative of the joint distribution committee, who returned today from an extensive trip to the Ukraine, said that he did not meet with the faintest sign of trouble.

Kentucky-Virginia Lynching May Cause Government Probe

Whitesburg, Ky., December 1.—(AP)—Federal investigation into the lynching early Wednesday of Leonard Woods, negro, who was taken from the Letcher county jail by a mob, may result because two of six prisoners who escaped in the excitement were government prisoners.

This statement was made by Harry L. Moore, county attorney, who was preparing his report today to forward it to Governor W. J. Fields at Frankfort. The federal prisoners and the four state prisoners who fled from the battered jail still were at large tonight.

Moore said he had established that the leaders of the mob came from Wise county, Virginia, home of Hershel Denton, whose slaying, allegedly by Woods, led to the lynching. "Those who broke into the jail and carried the negro away were from Virginia," Moore said. He plans to continue his investigation and to present what facts he obtains to the January grand jury.

Two Witnesses Against Capone Shot to Death

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, December 1.—Two government witnesses against Al (Scar Face) Capone in a Cicero liquor conspiracy were shot to death a few days before they were to testify. Lawyers charged in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court today.

Other revelations in the Chicago underworld situation were: That Chicago's gangs are arming for a fight to the finish, a development disclosed by the slaying of a Springfield, Ill., arms dealer by an Aiello clansman seeking an arsenal.

The Aiello are rivals of Capone and Tony Lombardo, far control of the powerful Unione Siciliana.

That the Loop machine gun plot against Capone was without foundation in fact, and an apparent attempt to cause the arrest of Capone's foes, the Aiello, before the actual opening of hostilities.

Judge Wilkerson was told that two defendants in the Cicero conspiracy indictment, in which Capone, Joseph Z. Aiello, village president, Theodore Svoboda, chief of police, and 70 others were named, were murdered last April, a week after they had made arrangements to testify for the government.

The men slain were Santo Celebreon, shot and killed in the Cicero saloon of John Castenora, and Castenora himself, who was "taken for a ride" a few days later. R. W. Marrow, their attorney, told of their deaths.

The men were to have testified against Ettore Hais, Cicero, Marrow said, with whom they were accused of operating a still. He did not know whether they had agreed to testify in the larger case, but it was the belief at the federal building today that the men could hardly have agreed to testify in one case without testifying in the other.

Fifty Indictments.

American, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Fifty indictments have been returned by the grand jury of Sumter superior court up to Wednesday evening. It was stated at the courthouse today. Most of the indictments cover minor charges, many of them being violation of the prohibition laws and the statutes against carrying concealed weapons.

Lead Advances.

New York, December 1.—(AP)—The American Smelting and Refining company today advanced the price of lead from 6.40 to 6.50 cents per pound.

COLORADO MINES, GUARDED, REOPEN

Denver, December 1.—(AP)—Under the protection of national guard troops, nine northern Colorado mines resumed operations today after being closed since the L. W. W. strike was called in the Colorado coal fields on October 18.

Although only a few miners reported for work today, operators were confident that it was an entering wedge that soon would bring about complete working forces. Strike leaders said that the strikers were prepared to stay out of the mines until their demands were granted.

Reopening of the mines was without incident. Military patrols on horseback and in automobiles covered the entire northern coal field which has been divided into three sectors. In addition, troops were on duty at the various mines.

Thomas Ameer, chairman of the state industrial commission, charged today that members of the L. W. W. were blocking the circulation of petitions among working miners asking the industrial commission to assume jurisdiction of the controversy.

The Rev. A. A. Heist, Denver minister who has been active in the cause of the striking miners, appeared before Governor W. H. Adams and alleged that families desiring to move out of the Columbine mine camp in northern Colorado were prevented from doing so and that those who returned to the camp cottages for their possessions were told that the goods could not be moved.

The southern Colorado coal fields were quiet and operators reported a slight increase in working forces in the district. Colorado Fuel and Iron company mines now are digging between 8,000 and 9,000 tons of coal daily, while the average production before the start of the strike was 12,000 to 14,000 tons, the company reported.

Escapes Chaingang.

Tallahassee, Fla., December 1.—(AP)—The escape from a state road camp near Port St. Joe, of James Martin, negro, serving a two-year felony sentence from Brevard county, was reported today to the state prison bureau.

Bandit Escapes.

Charles City, Iowa, December 1.—(AP)—Ray Harmon, alleged member of an Oklahoma bandit gang, who was sentenced yesterday to 10 years in the state prison at Fort Madison for attempted robbery, escaped from the Floyd county jail last night.

MEISEL IS GIVEN REPRESENTATION BY U. S. EMBASSY

Washington, December 1.—(AP)—The state department announced today that representations had been made to the German foreign office by the American embassy at Berlin in connection with the prolonged detention under arrest at Dusseldorf of Guido Meisel, an employee of an American dye company, on charges of violating the German law against unfair competition.

Meisel has been detained without bail since June 19, but the American consulate at Dusseldorf reported that he had been well treated. The message added that Meisel was represented by an American attorney who had charge of his case and who was assisted by local German counsel. No details of the charges against the American were contained in the advice.

Representations made by the embassy apparently had to do only with the long period of confinement and did not question the legality of the arrest or of the proceedings against Meisel.

OVERDUE BARGE SOUGHT BY COAST GUARD PATROL

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., December 1.—(AP)—Four patrol boats from the Florida headquarters coast guard base here today were searching between here and the Bahama Islands for the steam barge Montgomery, four days overdue in Nassau, New Providence, out of Miami.

The barge with a crew of nine commanded by Captain Gus Bloomberg, sailed from Miami Saturday morning. It should have arrived in Nassau Sunday night.

On Sunday the steamship Amelthus reported by radio to the Miami line, owners of the barge, that the Montgomery had called on it for fresh water at latitude 26 longitude 79. Fear was expressed that the heavy seas had sprung plates in the forward part of the barge, where its water tanks are located, so that salt water, not suitable even for steaming, had mixed with the fresh supply.

WIVES WILL HEAR HOW TO FEED MAN ON 51 CENTS A DAY

Chicago, December 1.—(AP)—The University of Chicago will show wives tomorrow how to feed a husband on 51 cents a day.

It will show, according to announcement, how smart wives by careful buying in large quantities may effect a saving of as much as $273 a year without the husbands even noticing the difference.

Two daily menus which supply a 150-pound man with his 3,000 calories at widely different costs will be explained. Besides the 51-cent menu, there will be one of $1.26 for food of approximately the same nutritive value.

STUDEBAKER TO MAKE EIGHT-CYLINDER CAR

South Bend, Ind., December 1.—(United News.)—A new eight-cylinder car will be placed on the market in 30 days by the Studebaker Motor Car company, officials of the company announce. The car will be assembled in Detroit.

Lone Juror Saves Redding From Chair After 44 Hours

Ballots Read: 11 for Execution—One for Life Sentence

Manchester, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—One lone juror stood adamant for 44 hours, and this one juror was all that saved Marshall Redding, negro, from death by electrocution for the murder of Manchester police chief, W. H. Callaway, last September—it was learned in Manchester today following Judge E. C. Roop's order for a mistrial in the Redding case in Meriwether superior court in Greenville this morning.

The Redding will be tried again. The regular term of the Meriwether superior court convenes in February and it is expected that he will go on trial the second time then.

From Tuesday morning to Thursday morning Redding waited in the Meriwether county jail in Greenville for the verdict that might bring freedom or death—and when it came it brought only respite before another trial.

While the negro waited, 12 jurors, locked in the jury room of the Meriwether county courthouse, cast ballot after ballot. They read: Eleven for electrocution—one for life imprisonment.

Of Redding's guilt the jurors had no doubt. But one juror doubted that his guilt deserved death. That juror stood by his conviction 44 hours, despite argument, cajolery, pleading of his 11 companions.

So the final ballot read as the first—11 for electrocution—one for life imprisonment.

That final ballot was cast this morning. Convicted, after 44 hours of balloting, that they could not agree, the jurors reported to Judge E. C. Roop. A mistrial was ordered and they were dismissed.

EMORY LOSES $70,000 IN KENTUCKY WILL

Mayfield, Ky., December 1.—(AP)—Emory university of Atlanta lost $70,000 today, when Judge W. S. Hester, in Graves circuit court ruled that a codicil to the will of the late Mrs. Emma J. Slaughter which cut her nephew, W. H. Wyman out of her estate was invalid.

The sum represented the major portion of Mrs. Slaughter's estate which had originally been bequeathed to Wyman. The codicil directed that the sum be turned over to Emory to aid medical students of the institution, and cut Wyman off.

"Broadway," the sensational drama of night club life, is still delighting

Keith's Georgia.

"Clara Bow," one of the most popular plays appearing this week at Keith's Georgia, certainly acts like a

"hick" who has just laid down his farm tools and appeared on the stage.

These clever comedians have been vaudeville headliners for a number of years and first received prominence for their playing melodies on common hand saws. Being the originators of this unique style of music, their fame spread and as they tell it from the stage, "vaudeville spoiled two very good farm hands."

Capitol.

The screen all too seldom holds a picture that may be classed both as a business success and an artistic triumph, but when one does appear, universal acclaim is its reward. And that's just what is happening at the Capitol theater this week where "A Man's Past" with the sensational European star, Conrad Veidt, is being shown in addition to a splendid vaudeville program. Five vaudeville acts make the stage program equally as good as the screen, with "Modena's Fantastic Revue" holding top line honors along with the Marie MacQuarrie Harp Ensemble of five harps.

Howard.

Howard audiences have been delighted by Clara Bow's role in her latest Paramount picture, "Get Your Man," for it seems to fit her to a perfect "T." She is still her fiery self, displaying all the pep, charm and loveliness which made her previous successes so well liked by movie fans everywhere. And handsome young Charles Rogers, who acquitted himself so well in "Wings" and "My Best Girl" (with Mary Pickford), does excellent work in "Get Your

Man." The public stage show, "Trip to Mars," is a pleasing performance throughout. The world-famous Loomis

(Dorling) (Wong) have made a decided hit in their second week.

Forsyth.

Theatergoers are vigorously approving "Enter Madam," the current vehicle of the Forsyth Players at the Forsyth theater, in no uncertain terms, and it indeed is one of the most popular plays that an Atlanta stage has held in several seasons. Miss

Frances Woodbury, in the role of the temperamental prima donna, whose husband is a family doctor, is exceptionally fine, and her list of admirers has increased greatly with her performance this week. Other roles in the play are correspondingly good.

Metropolitan.

A genius is Clara Bow on the screen of will. Saucy, bewitching, the little madcap plays at the Metropolitan in "My Lady of Whims," a lovely comedy dealing with revelry and romance. In the role of a daring

20th century daughter who undertakes to live her life in Greenwich

Village, Miss Bow enraptures her audience. Beautiful Carmelita, as her roommate, Donna, is equally fine. The heroic soldier of fortune employed to protect her, and Lee Moran, a clever comedian, ably assist the "It" girl.

Rialto.

Proving itself one of the finest pictures in the year, Vera Reynolds

in "The Main Event"

is a real honest-to-goodness story. It's the story of a dramatic tale that

David W. Griffith has based his masterpiece on. "The Love Flower" is filled with an endless amount of action and suspense and is conceded to be one of the most dramatic stories that has ever been produced by Mr. Griffith.

Madison.

The little Madison theater out in East Atlanta has for the last time tonight a special added attraction in

"Genesta," known as "The Wizard of Wonders." Genesta does acts of daring and death defying such as being securely handcuffed and placed in a barrel that is filled with water before your eyes, after being placed in the water the top is fastened on and secured by a pad lock. He claims to come out with the water remaining in the barrel.

The barrel will be in front of the theater for your inspection and you will be invited to come up on the stage if you so desire.

Remember this act is for tonight only. Don't miss it.

Vanderbilt Alumni Heads Honored at Banquet Here

Painting a graphic picture of the many important things alumni aid can do for a university, and pointing out the object of an alumni association, J. G. Stahman and L. B. Smelser, president and secretary of the Vanderbilt Alumni association, were speakers at a banquet tendered them Tuesday night at the Atlanta Athletic club by the local alumni of that university, more than 50 of which were present.

Mr. Smelser cited the remarkable work of the Vanderbilt alumni in providing an endowment fund for the university of $4,000,000, which has resulted in many new additions to the campus buildings and evidence of which is seen in the addition to the faculty of 34 new members of high caliber.

The two officials of the alumni association are making a 4,000-mile tour of the country to effect closer cooperation between graduates in the various cities, and the results thus far have been remarkable, they stated.

The $4,000,000 endowment fund, of which less than $100,000 remains to be subscribed, will be used principally to greater development of the college of arts and sciences to bring that department to a par with the medical school, completed several years ago.

Mr. Smelser pointed out that work has already been started on a new biology building, a physics and geology building and a building for social sciences. All of the buildings, Mr. Smelser said, are being constructed on a campus plan which will make the university one of the most beautiful in the country.

The scholastic achievement of Vanderbilt was also stressed by Mr. Smelser, who pointed out that the university is particularly careful with regard to the admission of students, in order to maintain the quality of scholarship.

The general tone of the addresses was to show the splendid work accomplished by the Vanderbilt alumni and to show even greater accomplishments possible through close cooperation of the various alumni clubs.

John Paschall, president of the local association of Vanderbilt graduates, presided at the banquet.

In power to let enforcement run along bit or miss," she added.

Representative McLeod, Michigan, republican, announced that he would introduce a bill into the house calling for a national referendum on prohibition at the next congressional elections in 1930 on the question: "Do you favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment?"

LEADERS OF PROHIBITION MEET IN WASHINGTON. (By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, December 1.—Representatives of 23 religious and non-sectarian dry organizations, composing the National Legislative conference and claiming to voice the sentiments of more than 20,000,000 militant drys throughout the country, met here tonight in an attempt to unite forces behind demands to be made on the two major political parties in the 1928 presidential campaign.

While the utmost secrecy was maintained at tonight's session, it was announced later that nothing more than agreement on the conference procedure was accomplished and that the discussion and possible adoption of a definite plan of political action will be had tomorrow in executive session.

The program finally, it is expected, will generally follow recommendations of the National Temperance council, attended by the same delegates and which concluded its annual meeting this morning. Their recommendations made in a secret report are understood to have urged definite pronouncements on the prohibition issue of both parties and to insist that candidates be required to publicly affirm their personal convictions on the subject in response to a proposed questionnaire.

Officials in Charge.

Dr. A. J. Barton, member of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America, and chairman of the temperance and social service commission of the Southern Baptist conference, is chairman of the National Legislative conference. Vice chairmen of the conference are Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Church Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and Mrs. Emma A. Boole, national president of the Women's National Christian Temperance union.

In addition to representatives from the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist and Baptist prohibition boards and the Y. C. T. U., the conference is attended by delegations of the Association of Catholics Favoring Prohibition, the National Council of the Social Welfare of the Disciples of Christ, commission on law enforcement of the Congregational church, department of social service of the United Presbyterian church, department of social service of the Universalist church, the United Society of Christian Endeavor, national service commission of the Evangelical church and the Unitarian Temperance society.

Other delegates represent the International Prohibition association, the International Reform federation, the National Civic league, the National Reform association, the International Order of Good Templars and similar organizations.

Mrs. McLanahan, of New York, Will Be Feted Visitor Here

Mrs. Alexander McLanahan, of New York, who will be remembered by a host of friends here as Miss Frances Gurr, daughter of Mrs. Fort Land, of Atlanta, arrives in the city this afternoon to pay her first visit since her marriage three years ago. She will be the guest of her mother on Piedmont avenue.

Mrs. and Mrs. McLanahan have formerly made their home in Paris, and a large part of their time at their summer home in the environs of the city. For the past several months they have resided in New York, where they expect to make their home. Mrs. McLanahan was formerly of Macon, was one of Georgia's most popular belles, as well as an accomplished musician, having completed her musical education at Wesleyan college and studied for some time with eminent musicians at Fontainebleau, France. She has a wide circle of friends here and in Macon, and her visit is being anticipated with much interest.

While in the city Mrs. McLanahan will be entertained by a number of friends. Miss Zedie Amerine will be hostess at 5 o'clock at tea Friday afternoon in her honor, assembling a number of close friends of the honor guest.

Oscar Weaver Burnett will honor Mrs. McLanahan at dinner Sunday, December 4, at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Joe Bennett will entertain in honor of this attractive visitor at dinner Saturday evening, December 3, at the Biltmore hotel. At the social gatherings coincident with the Georgia-Tech football game Mrs. McLanahan will be a popular guest.

Monday, December 5, Mrs. McLanahan and Mrs. Land will leave for a visit to friends in Macon, including Mrs. Fred Jourdan and Mrs. C. R. Bush, after which Mrs. McLanahan will return to her home at Fifth avenue and 82nd street, New York.

Cox College Alumnae Form Organization.

The Cox college alumnae met Friday morning in the Pine Room of the Ansley hotel. This meeting was a get-together for the former students who attended the two-day reunion.

Among those present were: Eva Floyd Pollard, Odine Vickers Turner, Louise Snell Grove, Eleanor McGregor Phillips, Effie Beddingfield, Louise Federwits, Sarah Kee Price, Mattie Williams McElhannon, Joe Green Lyndon, Max Garrison, Louis Ferris Ratchford, Aline Sacks, Ruby Shirley Poole, Nell Johnson Turner, Thelma Holt, Mary Roller, Evelyn Lyndon Stephenson, Mrs. R. E. Plowden, Mrs. W. R. Carmichael, Mrs. W. C. Wimbish, Mrs. J. L. Turner, Mrs. H. K. Gilliland.

A banquet was held at the Henry Gray hotel Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock for the former students of Cox college. William Cox, former president of the college, made an address. The alumnae were organized and an annual meeting will be held. The officers elected were: President, Effie Beddingfield; secretary, Louise Federwits; treasurer, Gladys Youngblood. Chairman for the different sections were: North Georgia, Annie Humphries; South Georgia, Rebecca Printup; Alabama, Aline Sacks; Florida, Lucille Westerfield; Miscellaneous sections, Sarah Kee Price; publicity committee, Della Odlin, Evelyn L. Stephenson, Eloise Olds.

Miss Nola Higdon To Honor Brother.

Miss Nola Higdon will be hostess Saturday evening, December 3, at an informal dinner at 6:30 o'clock at her home on West Brookhaven drive in honor of her brother, Earl Higdon, of Sylva, N. C., who will be in Atlanta for the Tech-Georgia football game.

The guests will include Misses Annie Oliver Walker, of Atlanta; Carolyn Brown, of Miami, Fla.; Earl Higdon, Arthur Rogers and Earl Bell, all of Sylva, N. C.; Paul C. Gogginer and T. B. Higdon, of Atlanta.

Phoebe Hearst Day To Be Observed At Children's Matinee

Interest is being expressed in Phoebe Hearst day at the children's Saturday matinee. The matinee committee conceived the idea of honoring on her natal day the memory of this great lover of children and kindergarten promoter.

Mrs. Hearst was co-founder with Mrs. Theodore Birney of the P. T. A. Appropriate to the occasion the program will consist entirely of kindergartners, the Tenth Street school kindergarten orchestra will play, the E. Rivers kindergarten will sing the pre-school song. Others on the program are Mrs. Charles Foster, president of the Atlanta P. T. A. council, who will represent Mrs. Hearst, superintendent of Atlanta schools, Willis A. Sutton, and Superintendent of County Schools Jere A. Wells.

The feature picture will be "The Love Master," featuring Strongheart, the wonder dog of the screen, and telling the story of the great love of a dog for his master.

Special invited guests are John Hearst, grandson of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, and student at Oglethorpe university; William Edwards, publisher of the Atlanta Georgian; Lamar Ball, managing editor of the Georgian; Mrs. Mildred Seydel, feature writer for the Georgian; the P. T. A. editors of the three daily papers, Mrs. Paul E. Brannan, of the Georgian; Mrs. John Toler, of The Constitution, and Mrs. Hal Steed, of the Journal.

The executive officers of the Atlanta better films committee, Mrs. Newton C. Wing, president; Mrs. George Price, vice president; Mrs. John Lloyd, secretary; Mrs. C. D. Tebo, treasurer, and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, parliamentarian, will receive the guests. The matinee committee, Mrs. H. G. Parks, chairman; Mrs. Moreton Rollstone and Mrs. J. G. Courtney, will be assisted by the Boy and Girl Scouts and members of the P. T. A. division. The matinee starts at 9:30 o'clock. Admission is 10 cents for children of school age and under and 25 cents for adults. Nursemaids are admitted.

Poetry Division To Meet Sunday. The poetry division of the Atlanta Writers' club will hold a meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Ben H. Hill, 708 Ponce de Leon avenue. Daniel Whitehead Hicky, chairman of the poetry division, will preside.

An event of the afternoon will be the presence of Miss Agnes Kendrick Gray, internationally known poet, who will read her Gettysburg sonnets and a group of her other beautiful lyrics. Miss Gray has won highest recognition in the world of art and letters, a poem of hers, "The Road to Firenze," being published in Country Life, London, England, and winning for her widest acclaim owing to its superb lyrical quality. This poem has been reprinted in several national anthologies.

Following Miss Gray's reading, the best poems submitted by various members of the poetry division of the Writers' club, will be read. All members of the poetry division will be present and anyone interested in poetry, whether a member of the Writers' club or not, is invited to the meeting to hear Miss Gray, and is requested to call Ashton Chapman, secretary, at Walnut 8079.

Miss Sarah Fisher Is Luncheon Hostess. Miss Sarah Fisher was hostess at a luncheon Thursday at Piedmont Driving club, honoring Miss Mary Wellborn, a popular member of the 1921-22 Debators club.

Covers were placed for Miss Wellborn, Mrs. Bryant Woolsey, of Shelbyville, Tenn.; Miss Mary Sadler, of Anderson, S. C.; Misses Julianne Hagan, Harriet Turman, Florence Eckford, Mary Louise Brumby, Mary Inman Pearce, Anne Kessnich, Anne Spaulding, Mary Harvey, Catherine Bogard, Mary Matheson, Virginia Courtis, Edna Belle Raine, Gertrude Harris and Miss Fisher.

Girl Scouts Will Sponsor Xmas Tree at Headquarters

The dinner program of the Atlanta Girl Scout Leaders' association held Thursday evening in the private dining room of the Daffodil brought together leaders and friends of girl scouting. Miss Berna Jaffard, chairman of the association, presided at the meeting with Misses Ruth Ligan and Joe Newberry as committee on arrangements.

Many interesting features of the month's activities of the Girl Scout troops were reported and important plans for the Christmas season's program were discussed. A community Christmas tree will be sponsored by a number of troops. The tree will be decorated at headquarters where the Scouts will bring their little gifts who might not otherwise have the joy of Santa Claus or gifts.

Those troops who have sponsored a particular family for a number of years will again care for that group. The annual candle lighting service will be held this year on Christmas eve at 3:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church. Preceding this service several troops will sponsor parties at the Old Soldiers' home. Home for the Friendless and Scottish Rite hospital.

Many troops are using handcraft as the theme for meeting programs during December—the Scouts making gifts for exchange at Christmas. Mrs. Homer Davis, a gifted artist and handcraft counsellor at the Civitania, will give a series of lessons at headquarters. The first 15 girls registering will form the class which will meet Wednesday afternoon and Saturday mornings. A charge of one dollar will be made for 7 lessons.

A particular feature of the meeting was the awarding of the Golden Eaglet medal, the highest award in Scout rank, to Sara Bowman, of troop No. 20, by Miss Corinne Chisholm, regional director of Dixie, and Juliette Low regions. This award comes as the climax of splendid scoutship covering a period of four years.

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

SPRAINS.

A sprained ankle can certainly be terribly painful, and sometimes disabling for a long while. If what you think is a sprain is severe enough to disable you, you should have an X-ray picture taken to make sure there is not a fracture.

The first step in treating the sprain is to apply cold compresses to keep the acute swelling down; then, within a few hours, the foot must be strapped with adhesive. The reason for the adhesive is to make a splint. Strapping a sprained ankle is really the work of a physician, but in case you happen to be where you cannot get one, I will tell you a method that is used by Dr. Hutchins, a trainer of football teams. (I get the data from a write-up by Dr. W. A. Evans.)

The sprained foot is placed on the doctor's knee, with the toes just a trifle higher than the heel. The foot is turned upward at the outer side just a tiny bit, enough to throw the weight slightly toward the inner side of the foot.

One and one-half inch adhesive tape should be used. The first tape starts on the back side of the lower calf (about six inches above the bottom of the heel), comes down on the inner side of the leg and ankle over the instep to the outer side of the foot; then under the sole and to the inner side of the foot, and up over the instep high enough to cover the first strap as it goes over the top. The second strip begins about the same place on the calf going in the opposite direction to the first strip and in the same manner. The third strip comes down over the ankle and the heel, across the bottom of the heel and upon the opposite side to the level of where it started on the other side. This forms a stirrup. The fourth strip goes around the ankle like an anklet and holds the other strips in place.

As soon as the adhesive strips are applied the patient can walk (if it is only a sprain). He must walk with his toes pointing straight ahead.

Dr. Hutchins has the straps removed at night and the sprain treated with diathermy (a form of electric heat which penetrates deeply into

Mrs. Raymond Wolfe Makes Request.

Mrs. Raymond H. Wolfe, secretary, Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs, requests that the secretary or president of each federated club in Atlanta send immediately by mail the name, street address, and telephone number of the president. This request is made that a complete revised list of clubs may be made and to insure immediate communication with the right person on matters concerning federation activities.

Address Mrs. R. H. Wolfe, 700 Park drive, N. E.

If there are no physiotherapy physicians in your locality, so that you can get the diathermy, you might apply an electric light heat. If you haven't one of the electric lights especially made for this purpose (you can get these at most drug stores or surgical supply houses), you may be able to manufacture one with a good sized electric bulb and an extension cord.

There is being manufactured now an electric light and heat apparatus which has a shut-off arrangement in it, so that if the light is used under the bed clothes, it automatically shuts off before the heat is great enough to scorch the bed clothes.

Failing to have the diathermy or the electric light heat, use very hot compresses.

THE CONNOISSEUR

Mr. Van de View, devoted to the maidens and the ladies. Doesn't care so much about them when they're tiny tots and babies—And especially he's lacking sympathetic comprehension When they batter him with snowballs with a mischievous intention.

He's surprised to see the authors of the roguish cannonade Are girls instead of boys—but he's none the less afraid—For they've made a pretty mess of him—a sorry sight, indeed, And he'd like to give a spanking to the little one in twined.

"I dare you throw one back at me," a saucy one is taunting. While a half dozen others their audacity are flaunting; But he only ducks and dodges while entertaining her to cease And he doesn't even see her little coat of woolen fleece.

The third one of the trio in a coat with ragged trim Is looking very menacing and dangerous to him—So, recovering his fallen hat, acknowledging defeat, He turns his back and makes an ignominious retreat.

I Have Said in My Heart

BY IDAH McGLONE GIBSON.
PROMISE

A world-famed theatrical manager, who has a number of promising young actresses on his staff, compiled a very clever argument for youth as the greatest asset of the actress or the woman.

Too long has beauty and worth in woman meant youth. The standard is wrong. Youth is enthusiastic—and careless. Youth is happy—and thoughtless. Youth is brave—and inexperienced.

When being a wife and mother was the only existence that woman was thought to be able to fill, it was natural that she should be considered at her best from 18 to 35, and only then could beauty be seen in her.

Now, however, that woman has been found able to produce other wonderful things besides children, we can find beauty in her from birth to the grave if we look for it.

A great many women make the mistake of striving after youth. Instead of saying, "Grant me love, experience, and life to its fullest so that I may have the beauty of health and all the nameless fascination which mature mentality brings," the average woman prays, "Let me but cheat the world a few years and then I'll be content to sink out of sight."

Like Oscar Wilde, they continually exclaim, "Youth, youth, there is nothing in the world but youth."

I have always gloried in my youth, but I have never looked forward with dread to the future—rather I am trying to build up for those years strength of character that is impossible in youth; to carry out the promise of that youth.

I want very much to impress this upon all the women who read my little articles that the first tiny wrinkle does not mean the "end of all" for any woman of brains and heart. If you are a wife for the one man who loves you, you will discover new beauties as the years go by, and if you must depend upon the opinion of the world, as have actresses and singers, you have but to look upon Jenny Lind, Rachel Bernhardt, Ellen Terry—in fact, every woman who has been big enough to understand that more years mean nothing to the worth and beauty of women—to know that you do not need youth to have given you the world's acclaim.

Memo: It is how you live, what you think, and the care that you give yourself physically, spiritually and mentally at any age that makes you either a woman whom everyone admires or one who is being steadily pushed aside by some woman more ambitious.

Mrs. James E. Dickey, Colonel Grayson To Honor Debutantes To Be Honored At Luncheon Dec. 9 At Banquet

One of the loveliest affairs of the season, assembling the members of the debutante ranks will be the luncheon at which Mrs. James E. Dickey will be hostess Friday, December 9, in compliment to the two of the most popular of the winter's buds, Miss Anne Spalding, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Spalding, and Miss Mary Harvey, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Harvey.

The luncheon, which will be served buffet style, will be given at the handsome home of the hostess on Peachtree road. Invited to meet the honor guests will be fifty members of the younger social contingent, including the members of the 1927-28 Debutante club.

All Saints' Auxiliary To Sponsor Program Of Magic and Music

An evening of magic and music will be given at Egleston hall Friday, December 9, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of All Saints' auxiliary. J. Edgar Hunnicutt and Sherrill Rodgett, well known citizens and members of the Atlanta Society of Magicians, will perform a series of sleight-of-hand tricks, such as to enthrall both grown-ups and young people.

A delightful musical feature has been arranged with Mrs. T. G. Seidel, accompanist. The program includes: "At Eve I Heard a Flute," and "Come to the Fair," by Miss Lydia Wheeler; "Would God I Were the Tender Apple Blossom," and "Dona," by T. G. Seidel; "Spring Song of the Robin," from the American opera "Shirane," and "The House of Memories," by Mrs. H. E. Storms. Between the acts, "The Little Yellow Dog" will be given by Mrs. H. E. Storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Seidel and Lydia Wheeler are well known to any Atlanta audience, but a word of introduction for Hazel Storms, wife of Lieutenant Harry E. Storms, instructor in signal corps unit of R. O. T. C. at Georgia Tech. She received her early musical training under her mother, then under Frank H. Mather, lieutenant of the Royal Academy of Music, of London, at Stearns hall, New York, followed by voice training with Mme. Marsellus, a pupil of the great Lilla Lehmann. She has been soloist in several churches in the north, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts, and will be in Atlanta about four years. Tickets are on sale at Cable Piano company.

BY WILL SMITH.

The old Dial Twister found radio reception excellent Thursday night, notwithstanding the fact that we enjoyed one of the best rains of the season.

It was a fine night to stay home where one might catch up on his reading while listening-in to a wealth of musical entertainment impossible of enjoyment unless the home was equipped with a radio receiver. No more wonderful picture of contentment could be drawn than that of one who the whole family is listening-in. It is one form of entertainment where one may read, play cards or what-not, with a background of ever changing music.

After coasting round the country from WFO, at Des Moines, to KDKA, at Pittsburgh; WGY, at Schenectady; WTAM, at Cleveland, and at least a half dozen Chicago stations, we finally settled down right here at home to enjoy the Maxwell House Coffee hour while we read our way into and out of several reviews.

There was one in particular that had to do with radio and politics, a combination that will intrigue our readers as it did the Dial Twister.

Henry L. Stoddard, who as editor of the New York Evening Mail had a keen insight into the strange ways of political campaigns, declares in his book, "As I Know Them, From Grant to Coolidge," that the radio will play an influential part in our political life hereafter. He says:

"In the years ahead of us there is going to be a development through the radio a silent vote much more numerous than heretofore and more difficult to analyze in advance; more remote from corruption, from demagoguery and partisan control. Two examples may be cited to substantiate this prophecy. In both instances a definite influence was exerted that would have been impossible by any other means."

"The first was the radio report of the democratic national convention in Madison Square Garden in 1924. More than 1,000,000 people listened in on these proceedings day after day. No newspaper could have reported them, no orator could have reviewed them in the realistic way the radio carried them into so many homes."

"It is not necessary for me to dwell upon the effect on the country. Its disastrous consequences followed. Had John W. Davis possessed the popularity of a Wilson and a Roosevelt combined he could not have prevented the blighting effects of that convention; his election was never a possibility."

"In contrast was the influence of the radio report of President Coolidge's address the night before elec-

Dignitaries Arriving in Dallas for Baseball Meeting

Western Loop Argument To Be Settled

Baseball's New Board of Arbitration Will Meet Saturday Morning.

Spiller Off

Bell J. Spiller, Cracker owner, and Bert Niehoff, who recently signed a contract to manage the Cracker again in 1928, will leave Sunday for Dallas, Texas, where they will attend the baseball meeting which opens there Sunday. The two expect to effect several deals whereby the Cracker will be supplied with new material for next year's campaign.

Dallas, Texas, December 1.—(United News.)—Dignitaries of organized baseball are arriving in Dallas for the official opening of the "hot stove" season Sunday.

Judge W. C. Brannan, member of the national board of arbitration of the National Association of Baseball clubs, put in his appearance today and set about disposing of details preliminary to the opening of the annual meeting of the association. The judge also is president of the Virginia league, the Piedmont league and the South Atlantic association.

The Western league dispute over the attempt of the Tulsa and Oklahoma city clubs to withdraw and enter the Texas league appears to be one of the most important matters to come before the meeting of the minor league moguls. Judge Brannan said. Withdrawing of the two teams has met opposition from Dale Gear, Topeka, Kansas, president of the Western league.

Hotel accommodations were made for Judge Keneas Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball; J. J. McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, and Connie Mack, who has led the Philadelphia Athletics for many years. Attendance at this year's meeting is expected to be the largest in history.

The first meeting of the board of arbitration will be held Saturday, J. H. Farrell, secretary, announced upon his arrival today. Members of the board are J. C. P. F. W. G. O. J. D. Martin, Memphis, Tenn.; J. D. Roberts, Dallas; Judge Brannan; W. J. Hamilton, St. Louis; and M. H. Sexton, Rock Island, Ill.

Officials of the Western league, American association and Central league also, are attending scheduled meetings Saturday.

BILL TILDEN AND JOHNSTON TO GET CALL

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.
New York, December 1.—(United News.)—Bill Tilden and John Johnston, many years the heroes in America's long string of international tennis conquests, will be called upon again next year to lead what the United States Tennis association has more than a vague hope will be a mission that will bring the Davis cup back from France.

With American tennis slightly on the decline and with the French brand decidedly in the ascendancy, it was thought that the challenging activities of the United States next year would be a gesture of reconciliation toward France and that some boys of the court might be sent out on what admittedly is a man's job.

The tennis association, however, has been making aggressive moves of preparation with no thought that they are getting a team ready for slaughter and for public purposes, at least, an optimistic face is presented.

Since he seems sure to remain an amateur and has no financial patriotism to fire him on, Tilden was considered the first choice for the American team even if he has had to howl to Rene Lacoste as an internationalist.

"Not exactly," he said, "but who else is there to consider?" "Tilden and Johnston, you mean?" "Who are two better players in this country? Tilden is recognized on the foreign ranking lists as second only to Lacoste and he certainly is the ranking American player. And how many American players can be counted on to beat Johnston or do better than Johnston has done in international matches?"

GEORGIA FANS CONFIDENT; TECH BACKERS SHOW FAITH

ODDS DROPPING AS CUP BATTLE LOOMS

As the week of the great brain-storming slowly draws to a close and the football battle between Tech and Georgia for the southern conference championship and The Constitution cup looms just a few hours away, one would naturally expect to hear much flinging of silver and flashing of greenbacks as concerns the outcome of the titanic struggle.

But strange as it may seem, there has not been a tremendous amount of the coin of the realm placed upon the altar of chance by the big plungers at this writing. One of the biggest commission men in town told this writer Thursday morning that up to date the wagering among the professional element had been very light as compared to other big games.

In any town where partisan feeling is as such a fever heat as it is in this Tech-Georgia encounter, one naturally finds many supporters of both sides. These supporters are ready to back their respective schools. Supporters of this kind are always ready to back their schools at any and all times if there is anything like an even chance offered. There is always plenty of what might be termed "sentimental money" on the eve of a big football game. But while there is no doubt plenty of this kind of wagering and while there probably are many fairly large bets being made among friends, there is no real scarcity of what might be termed "big money." Money sent out by the professionals who weigh the cold facts of the situation without regard to school or sentiment.

Long and Short Odds. To fix any particular figure at which money is being placed at the present time on the outcome of the game is hard to do. Bets among friends and supporters of the two rival schools have been made that range all the way from giving Tech seven points to as high as 14. In some cases even longer odds are given. There is no particular fixed scale. It seems to depend largely upon the situation, the kind of conversation and the height of feeling that can be aroused.

But when you pass out from the realm of sentiment and encounter the gentlemen who allow odds and percentages to determine more or less their livelihood, you run into an entirely different situation. Some days ago Georgia was ruling favorite at 2 to 1. Thursday it was rumored that these odds had dropped to 5 to 3.

The big operators will give Tech seven points, but it takes much persuasion and argument to make them give more. On the other hand, these same gentlemen will unstrap the bank roll if any enthusiastic Georgia supporter will give Tech points.

Many are probably "in the middle," as the expression goes. There are many shrewd operators who study the trend of the betting market, like the old Wall street manipulator watches the stock ticker. These wise birds get a certain number of points given them on one team or the other and range around and give a few points under what they have taken. They are then in the happy and care-free position of standing to the betting and having a few points running for them. The worst they can get is no action.

The Georgia supporters are very confident of victory. They are confident of a wonderful amount of faith. The professionals lean to Georgia, but only on a limited point basis. That about sizes up the speculative football market Thursday in Atlanta.

SOCCER TILT SLATED AT FORT SUNDAY

The soldiers of the 22d Infantry soccer team, having been returned victors for the first time this year when they trounced the Atlanta All Stars last Sunday, the final score being 4-3, are trying to make it two in a row when they meet the strong Atlanta Soccer club's full team in a match to be played at Fort McPherson Sunday. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

The doughboys are naturally elated at having won a game like taking up the sport only a short time ago, but it will take playing of a superior brand of soccer to conquer the Atlanta team which is the best in this section.

Soccer is making some headway around Atlanta as evidenced by the fact that there are now four teams competing—Atlanta Soccer club, Lithonia club, 22d Infantry and Riverside. The McCallie School of Chattanooga also has an excellent team and may be brought here for a game.

Big Bonfires Touched Off At Pep Meet

Georgia Student Body Holds Great Celebration in Athens Thursday Night.

Athens, Ga., December 1.—(AP)—Ghosts of Georgia football teams of 20 years past hovered over historic Herty field, where Bulldog eleven played until Sanford field was dedicated several seasons ago, tonight as the university student body touched off bonfires with the hope "that Atlanta can see them."

For several nights of late red-capped freshmen have been using every dilapidated vehicle available to haul rubbish to the field for the "pep" meeting.

One horse wagon was the principal carrier, bringing old boxes, barrels, shavings of wood and other pieces of scrap wood. On each wagon a couple of grinning, howling "frosh" sat high atop the "fire making."

The policemen of Athens all want to "get off" to go to the game. The chief has accordingly arranged for a couple of cops to remain on duty and to let the others visit Atlanta.

Another feature of the pep meeting centers around the old "water tower." Every year students in some manner unknown to most of the populace get on top of the municipal water tank, some 150 feet high, and paint the score of the Tornado-Bulldog game. The tank is about covered with scores already and the more far-sighted are trying to "figure" out where to place the 1927 count.

WHITNEY LEADS IN WINNINGS FOR SEASON

New York, December 1.—(AP)—Figuring actively in 1927 records on the New York race tracks, Mrs. Payne Whitney, owner of the Greentree stable, and Mrs. John D. Hertz, of Chicago, stand out among the leading purse winners.

Data compiled show Mrs. Whitney's entries won 32 races, finished in second place 42 times and took third money on 49 occasions, earning a total of $172,480. Jolly Roger, the Greentree stable's biggest money horse in Greentree stable sires, winning six events to earn $62,075, the largest portion of Mrs. Whitney's winnings.

Mrs. Hertz's filly, Anita Peabody, was the biggest individual star of the season with gross earnings of $90,965. Mrs. Hertz took $108,265 in purses, receiving $91,700 when Anita Peabody won the Futurity.

The hybrid, one of its skeleton like sires labelled "Bird" and the other bearing the legend "California, Here I Come," played a prominent part in the "shirt tail" parade of Furman students Thanksgiving night in celebration of the football victory over Clemson.

The mule was taken by Clemson alumni as a slur on Captain "Bud" Eskew, Clemson quarterback, who had been mentioned as a possible selection for the all-south team to play on the Pacific coast in December.

In reciting Clemson grievances following the game, J. C. Gee, athletic director, declared the atmosphere of Greenville was decidedly unfriendly to the Tigers on Thanksgiving and that no more games would be played here.

Conches and alumni of the two institutions are considering the situation with a view toward patching up the difficulty.

Charles Pfeil, Golf Head Seriously Ill

Memphis Man, Ill for Some time, Takes Sudden Turn for Worse.

Memphis, December 1.—(AP)—A serious relapse in the condition of Charles O. Pfeil, recently elected president of the United States Golf association, who has been critically ill for a month, was announced by attending physicians tonight. He is suffering from septicaemia, and is not expected to recover.

Mr. Pfeil has been seriously ill since before his election as head of the golf association, news of which reached him in the hospital here. His condition for a long time was considered virtually hopeless but had shown little change until today when a marked turn for the worse took place.

In addition to having served as vice president of the U. S. G. A., he had served for three years as president of the Southern Golf association. At various times he had been an officer of the southern, a vice president of the western and member of the executive board of the U. S. G. A.

He is the first president of the American golf organization to come from the west. He is a native of Illinois.

Last Minute Rush For Tech - Georgia Tickets 'Is' On

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Football has become almost place. The last-minute stampede for tickets is "on" in earnest, with the occasion of the Tech-Georgia game, expected to decide the southern conference title race, only a few days off.

The last-minute stampede for tickets is "on" in earnest, with the occasion of the Tech-Georgia game, expected to decide the southern conference title race, only a few days off.

With two temporary stands and other extra seats recently erected for the occasion, the stadium at Grant field, where the game will be played, will provide seating accommodations for 36,000 persons, not more.

Practically no "scalping" in ticket sales has been talked although many have been trying to get tickets from any possible source.

Hotels are beginning to "fill up" for the game. All extra rooms in hosteleries of the city have been engaged for weeks and an appeal has been issued to private homes to take "in" visitors. Some have estimated that 20,000 visitors will be in the city for the game.

4 Intersectional Clashes for Duke

Durham, N. C., December 1.—(AP)—Four intersectional games appear on the 1928 football schedule of Duke university as announced here. Navy and Boston college played during the past season, have been retained on the new schedule and Georgetown and University of South Dakota added to the list of intersectional foes. Ten games will be played.

Duke's schedule follows: September 29 Furman, at Greenville, S. C. October 6, University of South Dakota, at Durham. October 12, Boston college, at Boston. October 20, Navy at Annapolis. October 27, Georgetown at Washington. November 3, (temporarily open). November 10, Wakeforest at Durham. November 17, N. C. State at Raleigh. November 24, Davidson at Durham. December 8, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

A. U., Tuskegee Play For Title Here Today

Thirty-three husky football players from Tuskegee institute, accompanied by a band of 72 pieces, arrived Thursday afternoon for the intersectional game and the championship of colored college football against the undefeated Atlanta university eleven this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Spiller's. The Alabama team, coached by Cleve Abbott, late of South Dakota Aggies, has not lost a game in four years and has 43 victories to its credit in the past four years.

The Weather

Rain and colder for Friday and clear and cold for Saturday, the day of the Tech-Georgia football game, was the prediction given out Thursday night by C. F. von Hermann, head of the local weather bureau.

This prediction will bring joy to the hearts of all who are expected to be among those present at Grant field Saturday afternoon.

OLD BASEBALL PLAYER DIES IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, December 1.—(AP)—Daniel C. Shay, 52, veteran baseball player and former manager of the Kansas City American association baseball club, died in a hospital here today; apparently a suicide victim.

Shay was found wounded last night in his room at a local hotel, where he lived alone. There was a revolver on the floor. Shay suffered a stroke of paralysis about a year ago and friends said he had been in ill health and despondent since then.

"Husky" Den, as he was known as a player, was a teammate of John McGraw with the New York Giants 20 years ago, and played shortstop with the Giants. He was a member of the Kansas City Blues in 1900 from the Stockton, Calif. club, and managed the Blues in 1910 and 1911, leading them to second place in the association the latter year.

In 1917 Shay was charged with the murder of a negro waiter in an Indianapolis cafe, and was acquitted, the jury deciding he shot in self-defense.

Of late years he had done some scouting during the summer months for his league club, the Athletics.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Florence Shay, Havana, Cuba; a son, Daniel C. Shay, Jr., civil engineer in Oklahoma, and two sisters, Miss Sadie Shay, Kansas City, and Mrs. Bevelia Armstrong, Detroit.

V. P. I. and Colgate To Meet Next Year

Blacksburg, Va., December 1.—(AP)—Virginia Polytechnic institute and Colgate university have agreed to meet on the gridiron again next year. Graduate Manager O. P. Miles announced here tonight. The game will be played October 12 at Hamilton, N. Y., on Whitall field, scene of V. P. I.'s 6-0 victory over Colgate eleven last October. It will be the globe's only northern invasion in 1928.

1928 Army-Navy Tilt to Phill

Philadelphia, Pa., December 1.—(United News.)—Without making a definite announcement, Commander Jonas H. Ingram, director of athletics at the United States Naval academy, intimated tonight that the 1928 game between the Army and Navy would be played at Franklin field here.

Ingram talked to newspapermen following today's conference with Ernest E. Cozens, graduate manager of the University of Pennsylvania.

He said officials of the university had informed him that the Franklin field stadium could accommodate 80,000 spectators. The officials guaranteed that 25,000 tickets would go to the Army and 35,000 to the Navy; the other 10,000 being reserved for the general public.

Cozens also intimated that the conference held had a favorable termination.

YOUNGEST STRIBLING BOXES HERE

"Baby" Stribling, who always has been more popular with the Atlanta fans than his elder brother, headlines the boxing card to be offered at the Rindside club next Tuesday night. So Matchmaker Jimmy Mayson announced yesterday.

The younger Stribling has been fighting at a steady clip for the last year and, according to all reports, is making rapid strides forward in the pugilistic game.

Pa Stribling, who was in Atlanta on a visit this week, declared that his son was even progressing so far as to develop a punch and that where he once depended on winning the referee's decision he is now stepping out and stopping his opponents.

There is no doubt about Baby Stribling being a crowd-pleaser. He is quick and his well with both hands. The Rindside club is making a permanent practice of a weekly boxing show and the two offered to date have provided the maximum in thrills and excitement for the fans. The attendance has been steadily increasing and Matchmaker Mayson believes that the Tuesday night card will tax the capacity of his club, which accommodates more than 1,000 fans.

The club is located at Broad and Mitchell streets.

Tech Ends Hard Work for Grid Clash With Bulldogs

Columbia Wants Good Athletes

New York, December 1.—(AP)—Graduates are urged by the current issue of the Columbia Alumni News to persuade athletes to attend the university.

"Yale, Princeton and Harvard men are not above such tactics, and all three universities enjoy a good reputation—and good football teams," says the paper.

"The average old grad elevates his eyebrows at such an unseemly notion, but we fail to see anything wrong in persuading a football player to enroll in Columbia, provided he is a good, clean and intelligent young fellow who doesn't expect to have his way paid for him simply because he can play football."

"A winning eleven, honestly recruited, is a credit to any university."

The paper blames the "disastrous" football season on failure of alumni to try to get athletes to attend the university.

Team on Edge For Title Tilt Here Saturday

Thomson May Be Able To Start Against Bulldogs; Jacket Defense Stressed.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

The "Period of the Great Room Shortage or Where Will I Sleep Friday and Saturday Night?" is drawing to a frantic and frenzied close.

All because of the fact, in case you are uninformed, that Tech and Georgia, the south's best in the way of football eleven, are meeting on Grant field Saturday afternoon—the game starts at 2 o'clock—for the

Visiting Scriveners To Be Dined At Club

The Georgia Tech athletic association will play host to the visiting scribes of the nation Saturday at 11:30 when the newspaper men will be guests at a luncheon at the Athletic Club.

Chip Robert will have charge of the arrangements which means that the writer will have a luncheon to remember for some time. Some of the visiting newspaper men who will be present are: Grantland Rice, Walter Eckersall, George Trerrey, Dave Walsh, Lawrence Perry, Alan Gould, and other national figures in the profession of sports writing.

southern conference title and to settle some 500,000 or more arguments as to how bad Georgia will beat Tech or how Tech will manage to stop the rush of the Red Terrors.

One more day is left the coaches to watch their respective teams in practice. Tech's Jackets ended a week of dummy scrimmages Thursday afternoon with a long intensive drill against Georgia formation.

Jackets Work Hard. While the Jackets were busy devising ways and means for the stopping of the Bulldogs, some few thousand people from out-of-town, tickets to the game put away in a safe place, were devising ways and means to locate a room, if possible.

Stumpy Thomson looked better Thursday while going through the paces, and although there are still rumors afloat that he won't start it is highly probable that he will get into the game and may start.

Parham was hobnobbing about Thursday, and the job of punting on fourth down Saturday will go to Mizell. Mizell is as polished a kicker as Parham, but he has been consistent throughout the season, getting good yardage on his boots, and should make a rather lasting impression Saturday.

If Thomson is out, the brunt of the offense will also fall on the shoulders of this sophomore speedster, who has come to the front so rapidly in the past three games. Last year, on the freshman team, young Mizell looked good, but he has developed beyond expectations on the varsity this season, and the Bulldogs will have a tough time stopping him, if at all.

Defensive Strength Needed. Tech's full defensive power will be needed Saturday, and all week the coaches have been working on two line combinations that have played equally well throughout the season.

Either set of forwards is interchangeable and works with equal effectiveness. The boys are fast and charge hard on offense and on defense present an almost impenetrable obstacle. Only one team in the conference has been able to break through.

That was in the Tulane game when a blond streak—Bill Banker—ran 80 yards for a score on a perfectly executed play at right end.

In other games this year the Tech backs have used only a line battering form of offense that made most of its gains off-tackle or through the center of the line. This being the final game of the season, with Georgia to be beaten, it is highly probable that "the team without an offense" as some people would have you believe, will open up another case, you might say, and show the assembled multitude a few things on the subject of carrying a football across someone else's goal line.

Team on Edge. There's nothing left now for the team to do but go through its limbering up exercises, signal drill and

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Recognition.

Again the south has received the recognition it deserves in athletics. In The Constitution of Wednesday a cartoon was reproduced which was drawn by an artist of the Boston Post, an old and loyal New England paper, and in this cartoon the University of Georgia was given deserved credit for the blemish it placed on the otherwise perfect record of the Yale football team. Such sentiment is expected in the columns of southern newspapers in the hearts of southern sports fans but the tribute is doubly impressive coming from a typically New England paper.

Just in case you did not see the cartoon, it pictures the Yale Bulldog crossing the goal line of the season's end. Behind the great canine lay the vanquished figures of Princeton, Harvard, Bowdoin, Army, Dartmouth, Maryland and Brown but tied to the tail of this bulldog was a can emblematic of Georgia's victory over the eastern Bulldog.

It not only proved that the Yale Bulldog was defeated but it gave Georgia the recognition it deserves for that great upset in the Yale bowl. It lent strength to the war cry of many Georgia supporters—"Georgia beat Yale; Yale beat the Army and the Army won the world war."

Another Epic.

There is no use trying to draw attention from the epic battle of Saturday when the Bulldog from Athens and the Tornado of Tech meet to decide the permanent owner of The Constitution trophy and to settle the supremacy of southern gridirons, but there is a sporting event of today which draws much attention.

Today is the day that the dusky warriors of Atlanta university will attempt to stop the Tiger of Tuskegee in its march to a colored football record. The Tuskegee team has won 48 straight victories and has triumphed over the A. U. outfit four straight years.

If football were the only attraction offered at the game we would not be so anxious to praise the event, but until you have heard those bands and the songs and chants of the cheering sections at a Tuskegee-Atlanta University game, you "ain't seen nothin'."

Giving them every benefit of the doubt no stretch of the imagination can give the white cheering sections any better than second place beside those rabid colored fans when their team takes the field against a rival. Their yells are unique and if enthusiasm could be sold they would all be rich.

There will be some good football, too. Atlanta university has a new star in Whedbee, their quarter, who is a cool field general and a triple-threat man. The Atlantics also have several veterans of past encounters who are familiar with the Tuskegee play.

The Tiger quarter, Smith, will be remembered as the midget who thrilled the crowds last year when he followed Stevenson, huge Tiger fullback, through the Crimson line for many a gain.

There is something of primitive fight in these colored games that appeals to any sportsman and an afternoon at Spiller's field today will bring returns in pleasure.

all the rest that makes up the program for a day-before-the-game workout. The squad seems to be on edge, and in the right mental attitude for the game. A big pep meeting was held Thursday morning and another is scheduled for tonight, just to let the team know that Tech, as a whole, is behind it.

In the meantime these cash customers from out-of-town will continue their long, tough scrimmages in search of a bed or soft warm spot to sleep on Friday and Saturday.

There'll be a great crowd here to see a great football game and a great team will win it.

Bruce Caldwell May Enter West Point

New York, December 1.—(United News.)—The intercollegiate gridiron career of Bruce Caldwell, Yale's great halfback, may not be over after all.

Caldwell may enter the United States Military academy at West Point upon graduation from Yale this summer.

Caldwell joins from Ashton, R. I., and is expected to be appointed to West Point by a congressman from that state, according to reports here.

Under the eligibility rules at West Point, Caldwell will be eligible for three more years of varsity football. He would be ineligible for the varsity eleven in his first year, but would be eligible in 1929, 1930 and 1931.

Caldwell was ruled ineligible for the Princeton and Harvard games because he played two freshman football games at Brown in 1925.

POINTS, DOPE, WHERE TO GET ROOMS, TICKETS IS "TALK OF THE TOWN"

BY BEN COTHMAN.

"I wish I knew where in—I was going to sleep tonight—I'll give you Tech and eight points—Don't be so generous. Why, I'll give you Georgia and six points—Boy, look at that rain. It's just going to be too bad about Georgia—Where, 'oh, where can I get me a place—to sleep—Yah, two tickets out the 50-yard line; O, I got a draft out at the athletic association (How some people can lie)—Tech's going to start its second team against these Red Terrors—Well, if they do that'll make my 14 points I gave Tech safer than money in a Scotchman's pocket."

Ask anyone in Atlanta what's the latest development in the Lillian Dahl case and all you'll get is one of these blank stares and possibly a query as to the possibility of buying a ticket to the game Tech and Georgia will play tomorrow afternoon before a colorful assemblage that will pack Grant field stadium to the very top.

Points, Dope and Tickets. The entire town is talking nothing but points, dope, and where to get tickets and rooms.

They've already started coming. Old grads from the smaller cities and the country. From down in south Georgia and from up in the mountains. Bringing the wife and the kids and planting the roll on either Tech or Georgia. The town is on its ear, one might say, and will probably remain in that unseemly position until some few days after this battle for the southern conference title and The Constitution cup is over.

Hotels have about as much space left as a modern kitchenette.

For example:

"Room clerk, please."

"We have no rooms."

Click!

Crowded Streets. Judging from the crowds downtown, everybody's here, but if you listen to the railroad men, the people haven't even started coming yet.

Some enthusiastic soul has said that there would be 20,000 people here, but it would seem that 12,000 would be closer.

In spite of Mr. Von Herrmann's prediction of clear weather for Saturday, it looks like rain, and that will hinder both teams. There are some who advance the opinion that rain will slow Georgia's deceptive running attack and that Tech will be able to crush the Bulldogs. Maybe so, but rain will hinder any man's football game.

But rain, sleet, snow, or the equivalent of a July scorcher, there's going to be a football game Saturday, and all you have to do is stick your head outside the door and you'll hear about it.

Georgia Takes Final Practice Today

Team Leaves On Saturday For Atlanta

Bulldog Squad in Best of Shape as Day for Struggle Draws Nearer.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., December 1.—Jupiter Pluvius made his entrance in the closing act of the Georgia Bulldogs' practice for their game with Georgia Tech Saturday. With rain pouring from the skies in great volumes, a short workout consisting of dummy scrimmage was held by the varsity in the Woodruff hall gym Thursday afternoon. The Red Devils were busy showing the varsity the Tech manner of attack while the varsity was equally busy diagnosing the plays.

After the rain had slackened up a bit, the players adjourned to Sanford field, where they continued the work of dummy scrimmage against Tech plays. Signal reviews and some punting were a part of the afternoon's schedule.

Final Practice.

This was the last practice of the 1927 season for the Red Devils, heroes in part, at least, of the varsity's successes during the season. Coach Woodruff gave the fire crackers a most appreciative talk at the end of the practice. The "Kid" said that the Red Devils could not be fully repaid for their share of the Bulldog victories. He encouraged them to come out for spring practice and next season, assuring them that there was real football talent in their ranks. The Red Devils are to go to Atlanta as guests of the Athletic association of the university.

Signs have been put up announcing a big parade of Georgia students in Atlanta on Saturday morning. The procession will begin at the Terminal station at 10 o'clock, just as soon as the special carrying the band arrives from Athens. The bonfire which was to be held in Athens Thursday night has been postponed until Monday evening.

Evacuation Begins Today. It is expected that most Georgia students and supporters will leave Athens on Friday afternoon. Classes have been suspended Saturday at the university.

The entire squad is in the best shape. Colds are feared on account of the change of weather, but as yet none are noticeable. Extreme care is being taken with the players both on and off the field. Friday afternoon will see the last

Manager U. L. Bonner, of the Atlanta and West Point railroad basketball team, announces that his team is anxious to obtain practice games and regular games with any teams in and near Atlanta. Mr. Bonner's telephone number is Walnut 1722, extension 82, and he is in a position to close any contracts for games.

practice of 1927 for the Red and Black warriors. The practice will be only a signal and punt formations workout, consisting of the lightest polishing touches. The team will leave Athens Saturday morning, via bus.

Meanwhile Athenians are praying for fair weather. Not a Georgia game has been played this year on a wet field and the weather conditions have been ideal for nearly all contests, with the exception of a little excessive heat here and there. The belief persists that the Red and Black will have a much better showing if the field is dry and the weather a bit warmer.

Appreciation of the work Coach W. A. Alexander has done at Tech and the esteem in which he is held was exemplified in the gift of an automobile Thursday made by 200 of Coach Alex's friends at an assembly of Tech's student body and a host of the Tech coach's friends. The picture shows the Tech military unit in formation on Grant field to witness the presentation of the car. Inset shows Coach Alex and his gift.

COACH ALEX'S FRIENDS BIG PEP MEETING IS HELD AT TECH FLATS GIVE HIM AUTOMOBILE

BY DICK HAWKINS.

"A fine coach, a true gentleman and a friend to the core"—in those words Major Jack Cohen paid tribute to Coach W. A. Alexander Thursday morning when the Tornado coach was presented with a Buick sedan, a present from a group of his friends.

And the reply of Coach Alex was typical of the man. He discounted any claim he might have to deserving the tribute from his friends and accepted with a peculiar grace which marks his actions whenever he is the center of praise. Many times when the recipient of a gift asserts he is unworthy of the gift there is a mark of insincerity in the word but with Coach Alex he spoke what he believed to be the truth—a sentiment that was contradicted by the 2,500 students and 500 spectators who watched the presentation.

On the field in front of Coach Alex were the military students and behind him the hundreds of friends who helped to show their respect and love for Alex by contributing to the car fund. It was a striking event in the history of Tech and of Atlanta. It was significant because many of the donors are not alumni of Tech but just friends of Bill Alexander, the man.

After the presentation the students and friends of Tech filed into the gymnasium where the battle cries of the student body served as noisy interludes to addresses by Coach Alex, Captain Ed Crowley, Frank Neely and Dr. M. L. Brittain.

There was a common appeal running through all these addresses—an appeal to the student body to place sportsmanship before partisan demonstration at the game and afterward when the streets are teeming with students and visitors.

Coach Alex said, "The team has been looking toward this game since the first of the season and you can bet that they will give everything they have to the game but it takes help from the student body and cheering section to win any football game. You have as definite a part as the players, and they need your help. The team will give everything to win, but even if they lose we will know that they went down fighting and playing the game as it should be played."

Riverside, U. S. B. Mix Saturday

Tough Game Slated for Spiller's Saturday Morning at 9 O'Clock.

Spiller's field Saturday morning will be the scene of an annual classic of football second only to the Tech-Georgia classic when Riverside and U. S. B. meet for a chance at the G. I. A. A. title.

The game will not decide the title race, for that is decided after the season is over by means of selection, but each team has lost one game in the association and the loser will not stand any great chance of being selected for the final battle.

On their visit to the stronghold of the Bluebirds the Cadets bring one of the most sensational backs in prep circles this year. His name is Bill Butler and he is making the Riverside followers forget the loss of "Red Bethen," an all-prep back of last season.

In Hunsinger, U. S. B. has an all-prep back of last season who always gives a good account of himself, and McHenry is another of the Bluebird clan who is to be feared by any team.

The game is to begin at 9 o'clock and one hour of real football is not only probable but certain. Any fan who chooses to get a full day of football would do well to visit Spiller's field in the morning and go to Grant field in the afternoon.

PAUL JONES TO WRESTLE HERE WED.

"Atlanta is showing more interest in Paul Jones than any other wrestler who has appeared here."

That statement was made yesterday by Johnny Contos, the matchmaker, in explaining that he expects the biggest crowd of the season next Wednesday night, when Jones, the speediest wrestler ever to appear in Atlanta, tackles "Scot" McDougal in the feature of the mat card at the city auditorium.

There is no questioning the fact that Jones is a popular hero. At the last wrestling match it was announced that Jones would be brought here to meet the winner of the McDougal-Washington scrap.

Jones has varied appeals to the cash customers. In the first place he is younger than the average wrestler; he is speedy, clever and clean and fair in all of his tactics. Jones is not of the McDougal or Davis type. He never gets rough with his opponents, no matter what tactics they may attempt.

In fact such tactics on the part of the opposition always stir Jones to renewed efforts and if it is possible to pin his foe's shoulders as quickly as possible, thereby ridding himself of their presence and rough stuff.

Contos declared that he is planning something new in the way of preliminaries and has in mind a feature which any ever offered here in connection with a wrestling show.

after Coach Alex finished and said just what one would expect Ed Crowley to say. "I do not intend to say anything now except that the team will be in there fighting all the way. I will do most of my talking Saturday night."

Frank Neely, a Tech graduate with the class of 1904, appealed to the students to remember the traditions of Tech. He pleaded with them to refrain from booing and criticizing the officials at the game and to conduct themselves as Tech men should after the game.

Dr. Brittain added his voice to that of Mr. Neely in appealing to the students to conduct themselves as gentlemen both at the game and afterwards. That his appeal struck an answering chord was evident from the fact that the cheers of the students echoed and reechoed until the crowd had filled from the building.

TECH REMAINS ON V. M. I. CARD FOR NEXT YEAR

Lexington, Va., December 1.—(AP)—Eight games are on the football schedule of the Virginia Military Institute for 1928 as announced here today by Graduate Manager B. B. Clarkson. Two dates are still open.

The Cadets will meet the same opponents as this year, with two notable exceptions. Wolford college and North Carolina university. The September date formerly held by the Tornado was regarded as too early by the Wolford management, Clarkson said, and a rearrangement of the North Carolina schedule has made it possible for the Tarheels and Cadets to meet only on October 20, the day of V. M. I.'s homecoming game with Virginia.

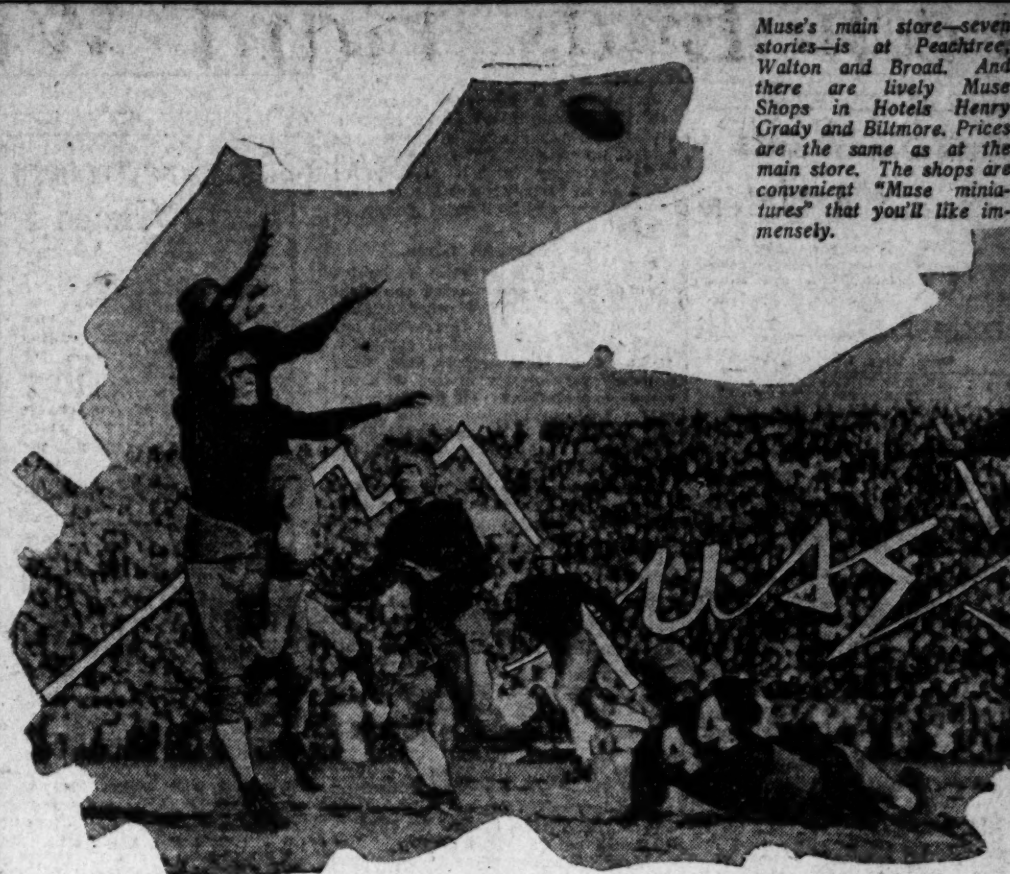

The schedule follows: September 22, (open); September 29, Richmond university, at Lexington; October 6, Georgia Tech, at Atlanta; October 13, Roanoke college, at Lexington; October 20, Virginia, at Lexington; October 27, Maryland, at Richmond; November 3, Davidson college, at Lexington; November 10, (open); November 17, Kentucky, at Lexington; November 20, V. P. I., at Roanoke.

Miami Race Track To Open Jan. 19

Miami, Fla., December 1.—(United Press).—Horse racing at the Hialeah race track will begin definitely January 19, Joseph M. Smoot, president of the Miami Jockey club, announced today.

Smoot said the opening date was announced as definite, but he declined to make any further statement pending the arrival of Luke A. Cassidy, general manager of the club. Cassidy, taken ill in Jacksonville while en route here, was expected next Tuesday.

The announcement today was the first Smoot had made since the action of Circuit Judge Paul D. Barnes in dismissing an injunction sought to test the legality of the Jockey club's new betting system.

Chicago, December 1.—(AP)— first December deliveries of all grain today showing less volume than had been looked for, commission house demand increased, and prices went sharply higher. Unfavorable weather conditions in Argentina, higher Liverpool quotations than due, and better export prospects for North American wheat aided the advance in wheat values.

Rye established a new top price record for the season.

Chicago closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1c to 1-3/4c higher.

Rye finished at 1-1/8 to 1-3/4c gain, corn 1-1/8 to 1-1/2c up, oats showing advance to 1-1/4c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 3/4c.

Export Business Gains.

Aggressive purchasing of the May delivery of wheat by buyers with western connections was a feature in the wheat market here, and it was also noted that North American export business had picked up to the extent of 500,000 bushels, whereas Argentine wheat shipments for the last week amounted to hardly a third of the previous week's.

Prices were also bullish for the fact that previous sellers of rye were showing a right-about-face in the wheat market and had become active bidders.

December rye at one time today showed a 1-1/2c bushel advance, and a change of rye sold at Kansas points for the 1927 crop. Barley also made a new high mark here for the season, and highest prices yet for 1927.

Barley on the market here for the season on kaffir corn and milo for export. The immediate occasion for the advance in rye was that no deliveries of rye had been made for some time.

Contract prices for wheat and rye were made in Chicago today.

It was pointed out by some authorities today that any deterioration in Argentine wheat quality during the harvest now going on might develop a much stronger European demand for wheat.

Quality of United States hard and winter wheat, Gulf premium light and there was talk current of likelihood of delivery of all shipments out of here to the east.

Outside interest in corn was larger, and offerings scarce except to take profit. There was some talk of a demand for No. 2 mixed by exporters at the Gulf of Mexico.

Oats developed independent strength. Arrivals were small, and liberal premiums were being paid for all grades.

Provisions were firmer, sympathizing with grain.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

ON MAY 23-24, 1865, THE UNION VETERANS OF MEADE'S "ARMY OF THE POTOMAC" AND SHERMAN'S "ARMY OF THE WEST" MARCHED DOWN PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, WASHINGTON, IN A LAST GRAND REVIEW. THE MARCHING OUT OF THE FEDERAL FORCES, NUMBERING NEARLY A MILLION MEN, HAD BEGUN, AND CONCLUDED UNTIL ALL BUT THE REGULARS HAD BEEN DEMOBILIZED.

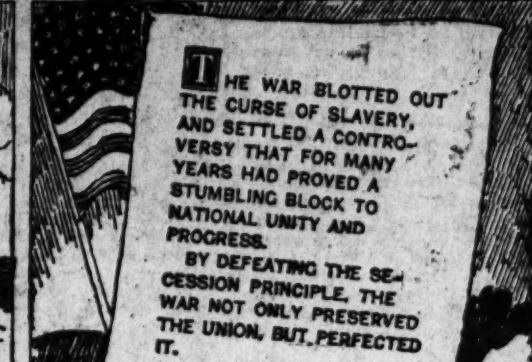

THE LONG CIVIL STRUGGLE HAD COST THE NORTH AND SOUTH OVER 700,000 LIVES. DURING THE FOUR YEARS OF THE WAR, AN AVERAGE OF 500 MEN DIED EVERY DAY ON THE BATTLEFIELD OR IN THE CROWDED HOSPITALS. MANY MORE WERE DISABLED BY WOUNDS OR DISEASE.

The Cost of the War.

THE COST OF THE CIVIL WAR IN WEALTH WAS A STAGGERING BURDEN TO THE NATION. THE EXPENSES OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, DURING THE WAR ROSE TO MORE THAN TWO MILLION DOLLARS A DAY, WHILE THE TOTAL COST OF THE GREAT CONFLICT INCLUDING THE AMOUNT TO BE PAID IN PENSIONS AND THE AMOUNT OF PRIVATE PROPERTY DESTROYED, IS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT TEN BILLION DOLLARS.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE WAR BLOTTED OUT THE CURSE OF SLAVERY, AND SETTLED A CONTROVERSY THAT FOR MANY YEARS HAD PROVED A STUMBLING BLOCK TO NATIONAL UNITY AND PROGRESS. BY DEFEATING THE SECESSION PRINCIPLE, THE WAR NOT ONLY PRESERVED THE UNION, BUT PERFECTED IT.
